Mr. TURNER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BLANK. I should like, Mr. Speaker, to ask the gentleman from Delaware whether he believes that legal investments for trust funds should be more interested in security of principal than in the rate of income?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would say that that is a question that could be answered both ways. Of course I believe in security of investment. I think that is the first thing you always look for in trust funds, but the question of the yield very often is a very important question, depending largely upon the estate. If you have an estate of a million dollars you can invest one hundred thousand of that in things that you cannot invest ten thousand dollars in from an estate of fifteen thousand dollars.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Delaware whether he doesn't believe that it is his duty as a member of this Legislature to insure the security of the principal of legal investments for trust funds.

Mr. TURNER. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BLANK. Then, Mr. Speaker, I shall further ask the gentleman from Delaware whether or not the small estate can be invested under this act in baby bonds of the United States Government.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, it can be invested,—no, I wouldn't say in baby bonds. The baby bonds raise an entirely different question. They might be invested in bonds of the United States Government.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, did not the gentleman from Delaware refer to the inability of investing small estates?

Mr. TURNER. I did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, cannot the small estate as low as one hundred dollars be invested in Government baby bonds?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I say to you that very often the question arises in baby bonds of getting the money back.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Delaware inferring that the baby bonds of the United States Government are less liquid than participation mortgages?

Mr. TURNER. I wouldn't say less liquid, Mr. Speaker, but baby bonds are not always liquid.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, are not the baby bonds of the United States Government readily transferrable at any time of the day during regular brokerage hours?

Mr. TURNER. I do not understand it so, Mr. Speaker. I might ask the gentleman if he will permit me for a moment to clarify this matter. He realizes that very often in an investment in Government bonds, for instance, you might get a market where you are paying a premium. The guardian or the trustee would be in a rather difficult position in investing a small amount of money with the premium, particularly if he only had a short time from the time he had to buy those bonds until the time that he might have to liquidate them. On the other hand at the present time I don't know whether I would want to invest a lot of trust funds of a minor who might become of age within a very short space of time or of some widow who is depending upon the money in Government bonds. In the first place there is a very great danger that Government bonds may sag, although—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Philadelphia making a speech or answering an interrogation?

The SPEAKER. The Chair cannot answer the question, Does the gentleman wish to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware to determine whether he is making a speech or answering a question?

Mr. BLANK. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Speaker, inform the members of the House whether he is replying to the question I am asking or whether he is debating the question at issue.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I think I said that if the gentleman from Philadelphia had appealed to me instead of to the Chair we could probably have straightened it out. I felt that by taking a little time to explain that I could clarify it, but if the gentleman desires to ask questions I should be glad to answer them.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware whether he would insist on the statement that United States baby bonds are not readily liquid.

Mr. TURNER. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I say that, they are not readily liquid.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Delaware whether he would prefer to have his own funds invested in participation mortgages or mortgage pools or whether he would prefer to have those funds invested in bonds of the United States Government.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is asking me a hypothetical question. I haven't any funds to invest.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Delaware which he would prefer to invest it in if he were appointed the guardian of a minor's estate.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I can answer that by saying this,—first let me say that I cannot answer the other, and the gentleman knows that I cannot, and he asked it for that purpose. I would have to answer it in the same way, first that it would depend upon the size of the estate, and second it would depend on the security that I felt was behind the security or behind the mortgage. You cannot draw hard and fast rules on this if you know about the investment of these funds,— and I think the gentleman does. You cannot draw a hard and fast rule.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, my friend from Delaware failed to call to the attention of the members of the House something that is very important in this bill. It is not the intention of the Banking Committee in any manner whatsoever to harm trust companies, fiduciaries or the beneficiaries of any trust estate. The purpose in this bill, ladies and gentlemen of the House, is very simple. It is the feeling of the Banking Committee, and I might say, of a representative proportion of the bankers that we have contacted that these types of investment are perfectly proper, but not sufficiently secure in principal for the investment of trust funds as legal investments. In other words, if I go into a bank or trust company and I say to the trust officer, "I want you to be the fiduciary officer of my estate," I want the officer of that institution to say to that individual "Do you want us to restrict it to legal investments or do you want us to have discretion in making the investments?" Then if the man says to a bank "I want you to restrict it to legal investments" then it is the feeling of the Banking Committee that those investments should be of the type that have the greatest security for the principal and the best investment of a type that will afford the greatest protection that we can get for the people of Pennsylvania. And we further feel that if I say to the officer of the bank or trust company, "I want you to use your discretion in the investments" then it could be invested in any form of investment that they want, and that would be perfectly proper, but where the individual handling the estate is limited to legal investments, then we feel that those legal investments should be enshrouded with all the safeguards that this Legislature can put on, and these three types of investment have proven by experience not to be of the same general type of security, not as safe in any degree whatsoever as the other investments which are permitted by this act.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I believe that this bill is one of the most constructive measures that has come before the Legislature for some time, and I think we will have accomplished a great deal for the small unprotected people of the Commonwealth if this bill receives the support of the House.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I don't know much about these sixty thousand dollars or hundred thousand dollars or million dollar estates that are talked about. We do not have any estates of that size where I come from, but I do know a good bit about a small estate of two or three or four thousand dollars or a thousand dollars or something in that neighborhood, and I know a great deal about the number of estates that we have in which guardians are interested, in which the amounts are less than one thousand dollars. The practice generally in our section is to have a mortgage pool, and if you have an estate of two hundred forty dollars or one hundred ninety dollars, practically all of that sum is put into the mortgage pool and earns six percent interest for that minor. The minor cannot agree with the bank as to what investments shall be made, and therefore no authority can be given, as has been said by the gentleman from Philadelphia, to the bank to invest in anything except the legal securities which he desires, which means to invest in municipal and Federal bonds. It would therefore be necessary for the bank that has a few dollars of some minor to buy a government bond of some kind. Now, we all know that government bonds vary in price very substantially. We all know that their interest rate is very low; we all know that to attempt to invest one hundred or two hundred dollars for two or three years in government bonds might result in that bank having to pay a premium in the first place and having to sell them out a few dollars below par, and the result would be that you do not have a cent of interest earned during that period.

I feel that for the interest of the small estate it is absolutely necessary, particularly in the rural communities, to continue this mortgage pool investments for trust funds and keep them legal. Government bonds have been as low as eighty dollars; you can lose money on government bonds as well as you can on mortgages.

We all know that municipal bonds and county bonds throughout this State have defaulted,—throughout this country at least they have defaulted, and that you can lose money on those. The mortgage pool if it is handled properly, is just as safe as any other investment, and I do not think that it is necessary in order to protect the principal sum of these estates to rule out mortgages. If they are administered properly, as they have been in most rural communities, the losses will not be great, or there will not be any losses to the fiduciaries or to the beneficiaries of those trust funds. I think that this House of Representatives should vote down this bill in order that the small estates may receive the benefits to which they are now entitled under the law.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in regard to the statement by my esteemed colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Blank, I think it is only just that I should state to the members of this House that the Girard Trust Company which holds close to a billion dollars in individual trusts, do not invest their funds haphazard. All the investments are made, not by a trust officer but by an investment committee headed by the director. But I am going to vote for this bill because of its other features. I do feel that a responsible trust company should have discretionary powers in this respect.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentleman of the House, there has been a good deal of discussion about this bill and I still do not feel that the crux of the situation has been made clear to the membership of the House. My good friends on the Republican side indicate that the small estate will not be able to have its funds invested at a proper return. This bill does not do that at all; this bill very clearly and very definitely states that this type of investment is not permitted for a trust estate where the trust estate is limited to legal investments. There is nothing in this bill which prohibits a trust company or any individual fiduciary from investing trust funds in these three types of investment where the trust indenture itself or the will does not restrict the estate to legal investments. As long as they are permitted to invest in any type of investment by such authorization this bill does not prohibit that. For the information of my good friends on the other side of the House and my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Walsh, I would like to tell you one thing, one of the most learned judges of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia, Judge Lamorelle, who died last year, in every case where he appointed a trustee or fiduciary for a minor, in every single instance he insisted that none of these three types of investments should be permitted in that estate. He had no legal grounds for that, but he did it because in his wisdom he knew that that type of investment was not proper for the safety of principal that we are speaking about. We ask your support for House Bill 1155 because it protects the small estate where there is now no protection. We believe that the small estate is entitled to security of principal and not when the estate has a one thousand dollar investment in a twenty-five thousand dollar mortgage in default and for many years not be able to receive any income and not be able to receive any principal.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a member of the sub-committee on this bill I think it is only fair that I should attempt to correct the impression that probably was drawn from the argument made by the gentleman on the other side of the House. This bill, No. 1155, supporting the argument of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blank, does not in any way prohibit a trust company or guardian from investing in this type of investment. The only thing it does, and the time has come for the Legislature of this Commonwealth to act upon it, is to set up a safeguard so that when the person having in mind a trust fund comes into the institution, they will then tell him and define for him the difference between a legal investment and a non-legal investment, and that is the only provision in this bill as amended.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEVY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman to say that under the provisions of this bill the guardian of the estate would have the right to invest in mortgage pools or participation?

Mr. LEVY. Yes, Mr. Speaker, but not as a legal investment.

Mr. TURNER. What else can he invest in, Mr. Speaker? Let me ask it this way, do I understand the gentleman to mean this, that this bill in its provisions is limited only to the case where the testator says that the funds shall be invested in legal investments.

Mr. LEVY. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Now, Mr. Speaker, I think that the gentleman evidently does not have the bill right if he says that. If you say that these shall not be legal for investment of trust funds in Pennsylvania, then that must take in not only the case where the testator says under his will or any other instrument creating the trust, that the trustees shall only invest in legal investments, but it must take in the case where the testator does not say in what the trust funds shall be invested, and it must take in guardians appointed by the court or guardians appointed in any other way where there is no limitation, so that the argument of both Mr. Blank and Mr. Levy that it does not prevent this, could only apply to the case where the testator under his will or where the party creating the trust, in the deed of trust would say,— which is very often said,—that the trustee shall not be bound by legal investments in Pennsylvania. But insofar as the guardianship is concerned I do not ever remember a case where there was a guardian where it was not said that the guardian did not have to invest in investments legal for trust funds in Pennsylvania, and I would say that for a mortgage or trust that was set up in small estates there is nothing said by the testator at all as to investment. It is only generally in very large estates where a testator says that the trustee need not be bound by legal investments in Pennsylvania, so that the argument of the gentleman must fail and his argument therefor is not correct.

Mr. VAN SICKLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as every one else has spoken on the bill perhaps it is proper at this time that the sponsor should say a few words. This bill relates to legal investments or fiduciaries. The act as drawn applies to to different types of investments. As to the major investments there is absolutely no argument. The only argument is this, that the bill as originally presented permitted fiduciaries to investment in mortgage pools or mortgage participation certificates. This bill was then amended in the Banking Committee so that the mortgage pool and the mortgage participation certificate were cut out of the bill. The bill therefore at the present time contains parts upon which there is absolutely no dispute, but does not, however, contain mortgage participation features or mortgage pool features. If you believe that the bill due to its other features should pass, your vote should be in the affirmative. If you believe that the bill should not pass because it does not contain the mortgage participation and the mortgage pool features, your vote should be in the negative.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the membership to vote "aye" on the motion of the gentleman from Delaware.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1305, entitled:

An Act to amend sections twenty-nine and thirty-one of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seven) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effort of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" by providing that under certain circumstances a municipality may purchase for the sheriff's costs subject to the lien of taxes and municipal claims property sold to satisfy a judgment on a tax or municipal claim and providing for the management and disposition of said property after said sale

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, line 1 of title, by striking out the words "sections twenty-nine and thirty-one" and inserting in lieu thereof "section twenty-nine"

Amend sec. 1, page 2, line 4, by striking out the words "sections twenty-nine and thirty-one" and inserting in lieu thereof "section twenty-nine"

Amend sec. 1, page 3, line 3, by striking out the word "are" and inserting in lieu thereof "is"

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 29), page 3, line 21, by inserting after the word "claims" the following: "and liens not otherwise discharged by the sale under existing law"

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 31), page 4, by striking out all of lines 3 to 29 inclusive

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 31), page 5, by striking out all of lines 1 to 29 inclusive

Amend sec. 1 (sec. 31), page 7, by striking out all of lines 1 to 26 inclusive

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1770, (Senate Bill No. 153), as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the twentieth day of March one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws 6) entitled "An act to prohibit the making or dissemination of false or misleading statements or assertions concerning any merchandise securities or services and providing penalties for the violation thereof" by including display or placard advertising and changing the penalties prescribed and the manner of providing violations

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the twentieth day of March one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws 6) entitled "An act to prohibit the making or dissemination of false or misleading statements or assertions concerning any merchandise securities or services and providing penalties for the violation thereof" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whoever in a newspaper periodical circular form letter or other publication published distributed or circulated in this Commonwealth in any advertisement in this Commonwealth or by any display or placard advertising in this Commonwealth knowingly makes or disseminates or causes to be made or disseminated any statement or assertion concerning the quantity the quality the value the merit the use the present or former price the cost the reason for the price or the motive or purpose of a sale of any merchandise securities or services or concerning the method of cost of production or manufacture of such merchandise or the possession of rewards prizes or distinctions conferred on account of such merchandise or the manner or source of purchase of such merchandise or securities which is untrue or calculated to mislead shall for the first and second offense upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than two hundred dollars ($200.00) and costs of prosecution and in default of such fine and costs shall be sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty days and for a third or subsequent offense shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding sixty days or both such fine and imprisonment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2102, as follows:

An Act to add section 491.1 to the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" authorizing counties of the sixth seventh and eighth classes to pay bounties for the destruction of rattlesnakes copperhead snakes and porcupines

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to read as follows

Section 491.1 Bounties for Destruction of Rattlesnakes Copperhead snakes and Porcupines The board of commissioners of any county of the sixth seventh or eighth class may provide for the payment of rewards or bounties for the killing within the county only of rattlesnakes and copperhead snakes not more than one dollar for each and for the killing of porcupines not more than fifty cents and may make appropriations for such purposes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, just in order to explain this bill, I want to call to the attention of the members of the House that this bill merely concerns the county commissioners of the sixth, seventh and eighth classes and gives to them the privilege of establishing these bounties if they care to. It does not say that they have to do so nor that they need to do so for any length of time. They can call a meeting any Monday night that they want to and call it it off if they do not feel that they should continue it. I would call the attention of the rural members to the fact that nowadays when people go out driving they come up into these rural centers, and a lot of these people don't know anything about these dangerous snakes and that sort of thing and they bring dogs with them that are not acquainted with the porcupines and a lot of animals are killed through their ignorance. We would like to have this legislation for these counties so that we can at our own expense exterminate these pests. It is not entirely a rural question. I would like to have the members vote "aye" on this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Order, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REQUEST FOR PERMISSION TO HOLD COMMITTEE MEETING

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, I ask permission of the House to hold a very brief meeting of the Committee on Judiciary Special in the Conference Room at the rear of the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give permission for the holding of the committee meeting? Is there objection?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, reserving my right to object I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Franklin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Moomaw, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MOOMAW. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Franklin, how many bills will be under consideration by the committee?

Mr. MOOMAW. One, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Franklin, how long the meeting will take?

Mr. MOOMAW. Probably not more than two or three minutes; five at the very most.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Temporarily, I shall object to granting permission until I have an opportunity of consulting the gentleman from Franklin.

On the question,

Will the House give permission to the committee to meet during the session?

Permission was not granted.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1787, as follows:

An Act authorizing the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to prescribe rules of practice and procedure in civil actions at Law and in Equity in certain courts of this Commonwealth to prescribe rules and regulations for the conduct of any general business either civil or criminal by Judges of any Court of Record authorizing the Courts of Common Pleas to prescribe and adopt local rules not inconsistent with such general rules of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania authorizing the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to appoint a Procedural Rules Committee and to fix and define its powers and duties imposing duties on Judges and other officers of every Court of Record

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the effective date of this act the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania shall have the power to prescribe by general rule the forms of actions process writs pleadings and motions and the practice and procedure in civil actions at Law and in Equity for the Courts of Common Pleas of every County for the County Court of Allegheny County and for such other courts having jurisdiction in civil actions as the General Assembly shall hereafter establish provided that such rules shall be consistent with the Constitution of this Commonwealth and shall neither abridge enlarge nor modify the substantive rights of any litigant nor the jurisdiction of any of the said courts The provisions of this section shall not apply to the Courts of Oyer and Terminer Courts of Quarter Sessions and the Orphans Courts of this Commonwealth and the practice and procedure in said courts shall remain and continue as prescribed by existing law At the time of the adoption promulgation and publication of its general rules the Supreme Court shall fix the effective date thereof which shall not be less than six months from the date of the adoption thereof

From and after the effective date all prior and existing acts or parts of acts relating to practice and procedure in such courts and inconsistent with the general rules of the Supreme Court hereinabove provided for shall be deemed to have been repealed by this act and shall thereafter be of no further force and effect

Section 2 Each of the Courts of Common Pleas the County Court of Allegheny County and the other courts established by the General Assembly may adopt additional local rules for the conduct of its business which shall not be inconsistent with or in conflict with said general rules prescribed by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania

Section 3 The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint a Procedural Rules Committee the members of which shall have been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania which shall assist the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in preparation revision promulgation publication and administration of the said general rules

Section 4 It shall be the duty of the Judges clerks prothonotaries and other officers of the several Courts of Record in this Commonwealth to furnish to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania or to the said Procedural Rules Committee such statistics and information as may be reasonably requested concerning the administration of justice in civil actions in said courts In the event of the failure of any Judge clerk prothonotary or other officer of said Courts to comply with the requirements of this Section the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania may after hearing impose the penalties hereinafter provided

Section 5 For the purpose of expediting any business of the Courts of Record in this Commonwealth whether civil or criminal which is not otherwise specifically regulated by any of the general rules hereinabove provided for and for the purpose of facilitating a speedy and proper administration of justice the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania shall have the power to prescribe additional rules for the conduct of such business of any Court of Record within this Commonwealth

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

Section 7 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional the decision of the Court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein

Section 8 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend page 2, section 1, line 17 by inserting after the word "courts" the following "nor affect any statute of limitations"

Amend page 2, section 1, line 25 by continuing after the word 'thereof" the following "As soon as promulgated a copy of all rules shall be sent to the Prothonotaries or clerks of all courts which may be affected thereby and shall be published by such Prothonotaries or clerks in the same manner as local rules adopted by such courts"

Amend page 3, section 2, by striking out lines 1 to 6 inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof "From and after the effective date of any rules promulgated under this act and so long as said rule shall be operative the operation of any act of assembly relating to practice or procedure in such courts and inconsistent with such rule shall be suspended insofar as such act may be inconsistent with such rule"

Amend page 4, section 5, line 9 by inserting after the word "additional" the following "general"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia explain the amendment on page 3, section 2 which is to strike out lines 1 to 6 inclusive and inserting in lieu thereof: "From and after the effective date of any rule promulgated under this act and so long as said rule shall be operative the operation of any act of assembly relating to practice or procedure in such courts and inconsistent with such rule shall be suspended in so far as such act may be inconsistent with such rule."

Does the gentleman from Philadelphia think that we can pass an act that would say that a rule made by a court shall suspend a provision of an act of the legislature where the act of the legislature becomes inconsistent with the rule?

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of the amendment is only to make such acts of the assembly which may be inconsistent with the rules of the court inoperative. It does not intend to put in effect an act of the assembly which may be inconsistent or contrary to a rule of the Supreme Court.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, this does not say anything about previous acts. This says "from and after the effective date of any rule promulgated under this act and so long as said rule shall be operative, the operation of any act of assembly relating to practice or procedure in such courts and inconsistent with such rule shall be suspended in so far as such act may be inconsistent with such rule." In the first place I don't see how the gentleman from Philadelphia can feel that that would stand. In the second place that is just giving an opening—well it is just giving a blank ticket to the Supreme Court to establish any procedure that they may desire.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. It is not the intention of the sponsor of the bill, Mr. Speaker, to give the Supreme Court any power that it should not have. We frankly feel that the Supreme Court as presently constituted will not overstep the proper bounds. If the gentleman insists upon it I am perfectly willing to withdraw that amendment.

Mr. TURNER. I have not read the other amendments, but I think that this amendment, if I catch the purpose of it, should be withdrawn.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I don't mean to question the sincerity of the gentleman from Delaware, and I ask permission to withdraw the amendment on page 3, which amends the bill, "by striking out lines 1 to 6 inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof, 'From and after the effective date of any rule promulgated under this act and so long as said rule shall be operative, the operation of any act of assembly relating to practice or procedure in such courts and inconsistent with such rule shall be suspended in so far as such act may be inconsistent with such rule'."

The SPEAKER. The amendment to section 3 are withdrawn.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. KANE filed the following reason for his vote on House Bill No. 1282:

After vigorous opposition to certain sections of this bill by Dr. Shea, Dr. Sarraf, myself and others, the sponsors of this bill have eliminated all the provisions we objected to, including particularly the right to be appointed to State positions, and so forth and since all we asked has been agreed to, I am voting "aye" on the bill as it now stands amended.

Section 5 Minimum Bid of Trustee at Sale on Foreclosure to be Fixed by Court Notwithstanding any inconsistent provision of law on application for judgment of foreclosure and sale in an action brought to foreclose a trust indenture deed of trust or mortgage upon real property or in any execution sale on a judgment entered on any obligations secured by such mortgage except where a plan of reorganization shall have been consented to by one hundred per centum of all the bondholders or where a sum at which the trustee shall bid for the property has been set forth in a plan of reorganization and approved by the court in a proceeding for the reorganization of the property covered by trust indenture in the manner provided by law the court shall determine what is a fair upset price below which the property shall not be sold and the judgment directing the foreclosure and sale shall fix the minimum price which the trustee or his agent or nominee shall bid for the property Provided That the court may in lieu of fixing a fair upset price in advance of any such sale require as a condition to the validity of such sale that the price bid at such sale shall be approved by the court as fair and adequate

Section 6 Deposit Agreements (1) No deposit agreement hereafter made and executed shall be valid or binding which does not set forth the following provisions for the protection of the bondholders

(a) That the fees of the members of the committee the assignee or the other person or persons to whom the deposit agreement was given as the case may be shall be reasonable and subject to the approval of the court

(b) That the deposit agreement may not be amended without the approval of the court

(c) That the mortgage investments deposited thereunder may not be sold pledged or otherwise disposed of without the unanimous consent of the depositing bondholders or in lieu thereof the approval of the court

(2) No deposit agreement hereafter made and executed shall be valid or binding or confer any rights whatever upon any member of a committee assignee or other person to whom the agreement is given who has any financial interest directly or indirectly in the depository named or to be named by such committee assignee or other person and no person shall hereafter act for a bondholder or a deposit agreement who has such an interest

Section 7 Restrictions on Comittees No sale of mortgage investments by a committee shall be valid unless the fairness of the price received at such sale shall have first been approved by the court except that where an action to foreclose a mortgage on the property is pending the application to pass upon the fairness of such price shall be determined by the court in which such action is pending The hearing upon such application shall be held at such time and place and upon such notice to the depositing bondholders as the court shall direct

Section 8 Managing Agents and Management Companies (1) A person partnership association or corporation appointed designated or employed to manage supervise lease collect rents or to act in any other way with respect to the operation and maintenance of property shall be required to give a surety bond approved by the court as to form and sufficiency in a sum equivalent to at least the gross rental or income of the property for the three months immediately preceding the appointment designation or employment running to the trustee if employed by the trustee before or after a default has occurred and before a reorganization has been effected and thereafter to the person or corporation acquiring the title to the property for the benefit of the bondholders conditioned upon the faithful performance of his or its duties and the due accounting for all moneys received by him or it during the course of his or its employment

(2) No trustee or committee shall employ as a managing agent any management company or corporation any of whose officers directors or stockholders are also officers directors or employes of the trustee or members or employes of the committee

(3) No voting trustee officer or director of a corporation acquiring the title to property in or through a reorganization of such property and no corporation of which he shall be an officer director or stockholder shall be employed as a managing agent for the reorganized property except with the approval of the persons owning or holding at least fifty-one per centum of the securities issued by the reorganized company

Section 9 Voting Trustees and Voting Trust Agreements (1) No trustee or member of a committee or the attorney of such trustee or committee or any employe of either shall be eligible to become a voting trustee or an officer or director of a corporation to be formed or used under a plan of reorganization to acquire title to property previously administered by such trustee or committee unless the facts with respect to their previous connection with the property are disclosed to the court and the affirmative approval of the holders of at least fifty-one per centum of the mortgage investments is obtained or unless a plan of reorganization approved by the court in proceedings in the manner provided by law shall so provide

(2) No agreement appointing trustees to vote the stock of any corporation formed or used under a plan of reorganization of property shall be valid for a longer term than five years and unless it has been submitted to and approved by the court and no trustees appointed by such agreement shall continue to act thereunder after the expiration of its term unless and until a new or an extension agreement has been entered into at least fifty-one per centum of the stock

(3) No salary or other compensation in excess of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) per annum shall be paid to any voting trustee or any officer or director of a corporation formed or used to acquire the title to property in or through reorganization unless the same has been approved by the court

Section 10 Fees and Allowances In the event of a default in a trust indenture necessitating the sequestration of the rents and income of the property covered thereby and where the trustee or committee or other person or persons representing the bondholders is or are lawfully in possession of the property and they or their attorneys if any shall have rendered services in connection with the property at any time after default no fees or allowances shall be paid for such services unless and until the court has approved the same and such fees and allowances if approved shall be paid in such manner and at such times as the court shall direct

Section 11 Removal of Trustees Committees or Depositories A trustee committee or any member thereof and a depository may be removed by the court for cause shown upon the application of any person aggrieved by the act or omission to act of such trustee committee member or depository after such notice and opportunity to be heard in his or its defense as the court shall direct

Section 12 Actions for Accounting by Minority Groups Expenses Thereof In any special proceeding or action brought by or on behalf of any minority bondholder or group of minority bondholders or any person or group of persons not holding at least fifty-one per centum of the stock or bonds of the mortgage issue but claiming an interest in the trust property for a judicial accounting the court may take into consideration the information as to income and disbursements theretofore furnished to bondholders and merits and good faith of the proceeding or section and whether the accounting will be of value to the bondholders as well as the cost of such accounting and the court may require that the petitioner or plaintiff furnish a surety company bond to indemnity the estate against the expenses of the accounting including fees of the referee to take the accounting stenographic fees and the expenses of the trustee and may direct that if it should appear that the accounting result in any practical benefit to all the bondholders the court should then in its discretion release the indemnity and that if no such benefit accrue the petitioner or plaintiff and his attorney should receive no compensation and the trust fund should be reimbursed for the expenses saddled upon it by reason thereof

Section 13 Violations and Penalties The wilful violation of any provision of this act except section two shall constitute a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine of not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment for not exceeding one year or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court

Section 14 Construction of Act This act shall be construed liberally to effectuate its purpose The enumeration by this act of specific powers and duties in trust indentures and other instruments shall not preclude or prevent the use exercise or enjoyment of additional powers and duties under or pursuant to such instruments or excuse the failure to exercise or perform such other powers or duties Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to repeal any other provision of law except in so far as it is irreconcilably in conflict with a provision of this act in which event the latter shall control

Section 15 Right to Appeal Any person aggrieved by any determination hereunder shall have such right of appeal as is granted to a party to a special proceeding All proceedings and appeals hereunder shall be entitled to such preference as is granted in respect to plans of reorganization under the provisions of this act

Section 16 Separability The provisions of this act shall be severable and if any of the provisions shall be held to be unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the validity of any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included therein

Section 17 Effective Date This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1963, entitled:

An Act to require certain records of oil and gas wells drilled in the Commonwealth showing the location of the same and the geologic formations encountered therein and to make copies of such records available upon payment of prescribed fees and providing fees and penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—2

McKinney, Muir,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 524, entitled:

An Act to amend section nine of the act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 1108) entitled "An act providing for the appointment promotion reduction removal and reinstatement of paid officers firemen and employes of fire departments and of fire alarm operators and fire box inspectors in the bureaus of electricity in cities of the second and third class defining the powers and duties of civil service commissions for such purposes and fixing penalties" by providing for preferences to veterans in the appointment of such officers firemen operators and inspectors.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there are three bills on today's third reading calendar, House Bill No. 524 being the first, No. 525 being the second, No. 523 being the third, which just about take away all of the civil service we now have in the Commonwealth and in the various communities of the State. House Bill No. 524 not only gives veterans of past wars an additional five percent, and veterans who have been wounded an additional five or ten percent, but it eliminates the eligibility list of civil service completely. In other words, after a soldier has taken a civil service examination, has gotten his additional five or ten percent and has made, let us say, a grade of seventy-five, he goes to the top of the list as far as appointments are concerned. In other words, a veteran with a passing grade of seventy-five comes before a person who has passed that very same examination with a grade of ninety-five or ninety-eight.

This bill also eliminates the age provision in most of our civil service bills. A veteran will be able to take the examination for a fireman, let us say, who is over the age of thirty-five. I sincerely feel that these three bills do go entirely too far. I cannot for the life of me understand why we should discriminate against men and women who many, many years ago were too young to fight, and yet that is exactly what we are doing here. I wonder if this were to be carried to an extreme how members of labor organizations would feel if veterans of foreign wars in those organizations would get preference to positions. I think that the time has come to put a stop to this special sort of privilege and I think we should not pass any one of these three measures.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Moran,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 525, entitled:

An Act to amend clause A of section three hundred two of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 15 1933-34) entitled as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the sale manufacture possession transportation importation traffic in and use of alcohol and alcoholic and malt or brewed beverages conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and its agents the Department of Public Instruction other officers of the State government courts and district attorneys authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises and the granting of licenses subject to local option to sell such beverages for consumption on and off the premises forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided prohibiting certain sales practices in connection with and transactions in such beverages by licensees and others making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of fees and imposing penalties" as reenacted and amended providing further preferences to veterans in civil service examinations

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Gorski.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GORSKI. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like the sponsor of this bill to explain its purpose.

Mr. GORSKI. Mr. Speaker, the three bills referred to by Mr. Tronzo do nothing more than extend the legislation now on our statute books. An examination of legislation in regard to this subject discloses the fact that House Bill No. 524 just passed, and House Bills Nos. 525 and 523 are only a repetition of the legislation which has been on the statute books for may years.

The reason for introducing House Bill No. 524 is because the Act of 1923 did not specifically repeal the third class city code of 1931, nor did it make any reference in that act that is was changing the law in regard to veterans. A veteran has had the right to take a Federal civil service examination for many years without any age limitation.

As early as 1887 veterans of the Civil War had a preference for appointment and employment in every public department and upon all public works of the State of Pennsylvania. In 1906 The Civil Service regulation of cities of the first class did not apply to veterans who could be appointed without civil service examination. 1907 a preference in appointment in civil service in cities of the second class was given to honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the Civil War, which act applied to policemen and firemen. It is to be noted that this act gave a preference in appointment some forty-two years after the Civil War. This act was extended in 1919 to include a veteran who served in the World War.

On May 3, 1917 a Civil Service Board for cities of the third class was created for the Fire Department and it was provided, "That among those persons possessing equal qualifications and eligibility for appointment preference in appointment shall be given to men who have served as volunteer or call firemen and honorably discharged soldiers and sailors who served in the Navy or Army of the United States during time of war." This preference was continued to the Health Officers, Sanitary Policemen and Inspectors of the Health Department by amendment of 1927 and it also applied to the Police Department, Engineering Department, Electrical Department and Building Inspectors without any age limitation. It is to be noted that this act was passed shortly after the declaration of war, at which time the public would recall the many promises made to the men who enlisted and were drafted that they would be well taken care of after the war.

In 1919 the Civil Service Act was passed without giving veterans a perference in appointment nothwithstanding the fact that the names of such soldiers, sailors and marines were not among the names standing highest upon the eligible list. The appointment should be made without regard to any age limitation now provided for by law or the rules and regulations of any board or commission having in charge civil service regulations in any county, city or borough. Again it is to be noted that this act was passed about the time that the veteran was returning from the World War and this would clearly indicate the intention of the Legislature to fulfill the many promises made to the veteran.

In 1923 the veterans were given a fifteen percent preferred grading in civil service examinations in all municipal agencies for their military experience and training. The bills in question were originally drawn at this old rate of fifteen percent, but the committee passing upon these bills decided that five percent was sufficient, and, in the case of disabled soldiers ten percent. These bills do nothing more than extend the legislation now on the statute books and this bill is for the purpose of clarifying a misunderstanding created by virtue of the fact that the Act of 1933 made no reference to the veteran and did not repeal the Act of 1931 which gave veterans a preference in addition to the grading called for in that bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 732, Printer's No. 690, on page 33, of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 732, entitled:

An Act providing for and regulating the appointment, promotion and reduction in rank and removal of paid members of the Bureau of Police, Bureau of Detectives, Police Women, Bureau of Electricity in connection with police departments, Police Telephone Operators and their assistants and Police Radio Operators and their assistants in counties cities (except cities of the first class) boroughs towns and townships maintaining a uniformed police force creating a civil service commission in each county city borough town and township defining the powers and duties of such civil service commissions imposing certain duties and expenses on the counties cities boroughs towns and townships imposing penalties and repealing inconsistent laws

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Weiss.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny advise the House if this bill applies to all policemen in boroughs and townships where they may only have one policeman.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, does it mean that they would have to set up a civil service arrangement in each borough for this single police officer?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill has been on the postponed calendar for some period of time. I believe that if we could set up a system whereby it affected the police officers in the boroughs or municipalities which really have a police force, that such a measure would have real merit, but to set up in each small borough and township, where in many instances, as the sponsor has stated, they only have one officer, I think we are placing upon those small boroughs and townships something that is entirely out of keeping with the real principles of a civil service measure.

For that reason I will be compelled to oppose this measure when the same comes up for a vote.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I ask the membership to vote for this measure because it gives to the policemen in the various townships the same rights and privileges that the police of second class, second class A and third class cities now enjoy. I say, if we are to have a better administration of justice, let us put the police in any municipality under civil service. If they render an efficient service in the community, I say let them be retained. This will have a tendency to keep the policemen out of politics because in some communities politics does play a rather prominent part just now.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I can see no reason why the smaller communities and municipalities through the Commonwealth should not enjoy the very same privileges given to the policemen of the larger cities and localities. I therefore ask the membership of the House to vote "aye."

Mr. BAINE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Weiss.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BAINE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Weiss, since he has admitted that this bill would establish a civil service commission in practically every township and borough in Pennsylvania, whether or not in a case where a township constable is the only member of the police force, this bill would not be setting up a civil service commission that would be practically inactive and ineffective.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, the situation referred to in the question of the gentleman from my district would be a rare one. There are cases or examples in the Commonwealth where a commission would be appointed for perhaps one or two policemen, but that is the exception rather than the rule. I say it will be necessary to set up a commission, whether it be for one policeman or whether it be for twenty policemen. The municipality will not incur any additional expense by reason of the creation of this commission, as I feel that men of responsibility in the community would be glad to serve without compensation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1651.

An Act to amend the act, approved the twenty-seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 858), entitled "An act establishing a State employes retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employes, defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employes serve; excepting annuities allowances, returns, benefits, and rights from taxation and judicial process; and providing penalties," as amended, further defining State employes; providing for retirement allowances where all back deductions have not been paid; specifying when State employes shall join the system; imposing certain duties on the heads of agencies of the State government; fixing the liability of certain special operating funds; further regulating retirements rights, retirement allowances, withdrawals and the computation of service allowances; imposing certain duties on the board; transferring the retirement board from the Department of State to the Treasury Department and providing for contributions by members.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1049, entitled:

An Act providing for the creation of a legal holiday on April 3 1938 to be known and observed as "Forefathers Day"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Aukerman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AUKERMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Aukerman, if he does not think we have enough legal holidays now. I would like to observe Forefathers' Day too, but I believe we have sufficient holidays in the year now.

Mr. AUKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, I wish to advise him that this holiday will only be for the year 1938.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean it will be observed for just one day in 1938?

Mr. AUKERMAN. That is right, Mr. Speaker, and in addition to that it is to celebrate the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Swedish vessels in what is now the Port of Philadelphia. This is in line with other tercentenary celebrations in other states of the United States and I think it rightfully deserves consideration and recognition by our State.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to thank the gentleman. I would like to make a little remark. My colleague said that we in the Legislature here do nothing for four months and we ought to give the other fellows a chance to have a holiday.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—6

Merrell,	Serrill,	Wood,	Woodside,
Schrock,	Stewart,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up House Bill No. 1792, Printer's No. 820, on page 25, of today's calendar, bill on third reading which was passed over.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1792, entitled:

An Act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses and election contests creating and defining membership of county boards of elections imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Weiss.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny advise the House as to the money which will have to be deposited by candidates for office?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, under the various provisions of House Bill No. 1792, known as the new election code, candidates for certain offices are required to make deposit except in cases where the offices are municipal offices and they are not remunerative, in which cases no fees are required. For instance, a candidate running for school director or a member of council of a borough would not be required to file any deposit. A candidate running for Legislature would be required to put up a deposit of twenty-five dollars; a candidate for Congress would be required to put up a deposit of thirty-five dollars, I believe, and candidate for judge, a candidate running for any other municipal office would be required to put up deposits according to the office for which they run. However, if they poll a certain percentage of the vote, two percent of the vote cast for the candidate leading the ticket, that deposit is refunded.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, if the candidate is nominated again, he has to put up some money, does he not?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, that is right.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny advise the House how much a candidate for General Assembly would have to put up?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. I think twenty-five dollars, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill represents quite a departure in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. While there is certainly some merit in preventing the ballot from being cluttered with a lot of candidates who really do not have any standing, having perhaps only one or two supporters, at the same time I am rather amazed that my friends on the other side of the House would introduce a bill which is going to make it very difficult for the poor man to become a candidate for office in Pennsylvania. As you have heard the gentleman say, a man who wanted to run for a statewide office must put up seven hundred and fifty dollars; a man who wants to run for Congress or for judge of the courts would have to put up three hundred and fifty dollars; a candidate for the General Assembly must put up two hundred dollars, a candidate for any borough, township, school district or poor district office, or the office of alderman, justice of the peace or constable would have to put up fifty dollars. I do not know whether there has been an about face on the part of some of my friends on the other side, and they are now trying to make running for office exclusive or not. But, it seems to me, we ought to consider very carefully whether this may not preclude many a poor man who does not have the means to put up the deposit or who does not have a political organization in back of him which might supply the funds from being a candidate for office.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Delaware has evidently misinterpreted the provisions of this bill as to the deposits required. Only when a group of nomination papers are filed by a political party, as you will see on pages 84, 85 and 86 of this bill, is there required the deposit just stated by my friend, the gentleman on the other side of the House. For groups of presidential electors a deposit of one thousand dollars is required; for judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts a deposit of seven hundred and fifty dollars is required; for representatives in Congress and judges of courts of record a deposit of three hundred and fifty dollars is required; for representatives in the General Assembly a deposit of two hundred and fifty dollars is required. This is only when nomination papers are filed by a political party, by the party itself. All the candidate is required to deposit when he files nomination papers is twenty-five dollars.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, certainly any candidate for the office of General Assembly should be of such standing that he should be able to put up a deposit of twenty-five dollars when running for office. I do not think there is a member of this House who will object to that provision in the bill. It has usually been the case that political parties have at times attempted to clutter up the ballot in order to prevent the use of voting machines for which the taxpayers of this Commonwealth have spent millions of dollars, by running for office John Smith, John Doe or Mike Jones, as these names might conflict with the regularly known candidates of the major political parties. This would not prevent a candidate running for some small municipal office. It would not require any deposit, as I said a moment ago, unless that office brings in some financial income.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there are other provisions of this bill, which are the culmination of the efforts of the Secretary of the Commonwealth over a period of two years in trying to unify and consolidate the inconsistent provisions that now exist in the present election laws of this Commonwealth, together with the many amendments offered over a period of years. I say it will prevent the appelation by mushroom parties which grow up over night and clutter up our ballot and prevent the use of voting machines.

There are other provisions of this bill which I claim redeem a pledge made by the Democratic party to give to the people of this Commonwealth an election code that is uniform, and when permanent registration is also made uniform throughout the Commonwealth, this election code will complete the culmination of efforts to give the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania uniform election laws and prevent the wholesale frauds that have been apparent in the past.

I ask the membership to vote "aye."

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the interpretation of the gentleman from Allegheny has made this bill much worse than I thought. I am afraid that the Democratic party has come to a point where they can be classed with economic royalists, because if I read the bill right, it means that if the party has to make the deposits, for two hundred and eight candidates for the General Assembly they would have to put up somewhere around forty-five thousand dollars. If you had some members of the Senate to elect, say twenty-five, that is another five thousand dollars, which means fifty-thousand dollars to start with for the members of the House of Representatives and the Senate. Then, if you had to elect a Goevrnor, if you had to elect a couple of justices of the Supreme Court, this would be seven hundred and fifty dollars each. If you had judges of your lower courts to be elected at the same time, or candidates for county offices, I can see very readily that it would cost almost one hundred thousand dollars before any party could put a complete set of candidates in the field. I realize that the Democratic party is pretty well forfeited, but I am wondering whether this is going to give us poor Republicans any chance to put up a state-wide ticket in the fall. I am very much confused in this thing in my own mind because this is such an about face on the part of the Democrats, and I would like to have some further explanation from the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I believe the gentleman from Delaware ought to know that this requirement on page 84 is only for the permission of new parties who want to run a string of candidates in any election. As far as the Republican party or the Democratic party is concerned, none of the major political parties of this Commonwealth, or even some of the other minor parties, for instance, the Independent party, if they poll two percent of the total number of votes cast for the leading candidate, would be affected by the provisions of this law, but it applies only to such parties as the Old Age Pension party, the Townsend party, which usually originate at every election and make it confusing to the electorate. These deposits might prevent such parties from preempting a party appelation and submitting a list of candidates. I believe that this is a progressive measure and is in the interest of clean elections in order to prevent frauds, and I again ask the membership of the House to vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—1

O'Connor,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 2126, (Senate Bill No. 65), as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the seventh day of April one thousand eight hundred seventy (Pamphlet Laws fifty-seven) entitled "An act to enlarge the jurisdiction of the Court of Common Pleas for the County of Dauphin in cases wherein the Commonwealth may be plaintiff and to provide for the issuing of writs of foreign attachment in such cases" by extending the provisions of the said section to the judges of the Orphans' Court of Dauphin County

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the seventh day of April one thousand eight hundred seventy (Pamphlet Laws fifty-seven) entitled "An act to enlarge the jurisdiction of the Court of Common Pleas for the county of Dauphin in cases wherein the Commonwealth may be plaintiff and to provide for the issuing of writs of foreign attachment in such cases" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Court of Common Pleas of the county of Dauphin and the judges of the Orphans' Court of Dauphin County [is] are hereby clothed with jurisdiction throughout the state for the purpose of hearing and determining all suits claims and demands whatever at law and in equity in the Court of Common Pleas of said county in which the [commonwealth] Commonwealth may be the party plaintiff for accounts unpaid balances unpaid liens taxes penalties and all other causes of action real personal and mixed

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, yesterday when this bill, and the bill which has been passed, were amended to make them become effective immediatly upon their final enactment, I made some remark about somebody being asleep. That remark was not directed to the majority floor leader of this House as might have appeared, nor to any other legislator who is a member of this House. As a matter of fact, some weeks ago I examined the bill of the gentleman from York, providing for the appointment of an Orphans' Court Judge in his own county and I noticed that he did have in his act a provision that the bill should become effective immediately upon its final enactment.

I should like to make a few remarks, however, concerning the general situation relative to the courts of Dauphin County, particularly relating to the bill which is now before us. The Dauphin County Court of Common Pleas is composed of three judges who receive for their work as such a salary of twelve thousand dollars a year. In addition to their duties as Common Pleas judges of Dauphin County, they have certain duties imposed by an act which the present bill proposes to amend, giving them state-wide jurisdiction in all cases in which the Commonwealth is a party, and for that service they receive an additional sum of three thousand dollars a year. Our courts are very busy as there is considerable work for them to do. We are very fortunate, however, in having very able and very competent members on this bench. Judge Hargest before he went on the bench served as a deputy attorney general; Judge Fox served three terms in the Pennsylvania Senate; Judge Wickersham served as a member of this body. All of them have been on the bench over sixteen years, are well versed in all Commonwealth matters and are very able and competent judges. All three have been elected on both the Republican and the Democratic tickets. They are not political judges. They are recognized by lawyers throughout the Commonwealth as being very able, very fair and as being well versed in all subjects which are brought before them. I stated that they are busy. They are. At times it is necessary for them to refer Orphans' Court cases to auditors, which causes some expense to the estates. In addition to that, from time to time they bring in outside judges to sit in the Common Pleas Court and in the Quarter Sessions Court. When they do that it is at an expense to the Commonwealth but never in excess of three thousand dollars a year, and that is more than offset by the advantage of running four courts at one time, which results in saving of witness fees and jury fees in an amount in excess of that which it cost to bring in the extra judge. Because we are entitled to an Orphans' Court under the Constitution of Pennsylvania and for the other reasons suggested Mr. Habbyshaw and I voted for the bill to establish an Orphans' Court and we asked our Republican colleagues to support it. However, the bill now before us provides that this Orphans' Court judge shall have the power and right to sit as a judge in Commonwealth cases. We think that is not necessary and I am going to ask the members of the House to vote "no" on this bill.

There are several reasons why we think this bill should be defeated. In the first place, although three thousand dollars a year is not a very large sum of money, nevertheless even though we are not in the horse and buggy days of economy, I think we should be interested in the taxpayers' money, even if it is only a small amount.

However, I think there is another and more important reason than this. The work in the Commonwealth cases is very difficult. It involves a great deal of tax work. Most lawyers know very little about the tax work that is handled by the Dauphin County judges. There are only a few specialists who really know a great deal about it. Our judges. are well versed in it, but a lawyer who becomes a member of the bench would have to spend considerable time on that subject before he would be competent to sit on those cases. In additon to that this judge is appointed primarily for service in the Orphans' Court, so that he has to be specialized in Orphans' Court work and Orphans' Court laws. A judge would not have the time necessary to become an expert in Orphans' Court law and at the same time to become expert on the law in Commonwealth cases. In addition to that, this judge who sits in the Orphans' Court has a right under law to serve in the Common Pleas and Quarter Sessions Court, and we hope that in Dauphin County the Orphans' Court judge will agree to perform that duty because it will save money to the county in witness fees and in jury fees.

We feel if the court is relieved of this work it will not be necessary to have another judge to help in the Commonwealth work.

I stated before that our courts are very busy, and they are. But in spite of that fact they are now and always have been up on their work. It is very, very rare indeed, that any case is in the hands of the court for two months before it is disposed of. In fact, it is a rare case that is not disposed of in less than one month.

It is not necessary to give this new judge jurisdiction in Commonwealth cases, and I do not think it is advisable.

Another thing that we should consider at this time is the fact that we will then have four judges sitting in Commonwealth work and there will be the possibility of a split vote or decision of two to two. That is a matter of some serious importance and serious consideration should be given to it. I know the Attorney General's office, from information that I have received, are not particularly interested in having this Orphans' Court judge receive Commonwealth jurisdiction. They know that the work is being handled very well, very competently and very satisfactorily at present.

I do not want you to infer from what I have said that the man whom the Governor is about to appoint to the Orphans' Court is not competent and capable of handling the work in Commonwealth cases. I understand that the man who is to be appointed is at present a deputy attorney general, and I know him to be a very able lawyer. In fact, I am sure that he, as well as the one whom the people will elect in November will be quite competent to serve in that capacity, but I think that it is unnecessary at this time to have an additional judge to sit in the Commonwealth cases. I think it is in the best interests of the administration of justice that this bill be voted down.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just have a few comments to make in an effort to impress the membership of the House with the reasonableness of this bill. It has been my pleasure to know the President Judge and the Associate Judges of the courts of Dauphin County, and I wish to assure the members of this House that I feel that they have very ably and competently handled the functions of their office, as well as additional functions imposed upon them as the tryers of Commonwealth cases.

For the benefit of the membership of the House, I think we should explain just what the function of the Dauphin County court really is, what functions they really perform, in addition to the functions which have been imposed upon that court in Commonwealth cases by law. This court is a sole court of appeal in any number of Commonwealth matters, matters having to do with the various boards and commissions of this Commonwealth and other functions of the government, and the jurisdiction of appeal in such cases is vested solely in the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County. In fact, the three judges of that Court of Common Pleas are made the sole tryers of those particular appeals. We feel that by Senate Bill No. 64, if the Senate concurs in the amendments we have placed in the bill, and the bill is finally signed by the Governor, we have relieved the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County from their obligation to Orphans' Court cases. We feel that all of the judges of Dauphin County, irrespective of whether they are judges of the Court of Common Pleas or judges of the Orphans' Court, should have imposed upon them the additional responsibility of being the tryer of Commonwealth cases. I personally can see no valid objection to extending the jurisdiction, which has been heretofore vested in the Court of Common Pleas in Commonwealth cases, to all of the judges of Dauphin County. With the establishment of a separate Orphan's Court judge in Dauphin County, and with the passing of the bill which is now before us, all of the judges of the courts of Dauphin County will have jurisdiction to try Commonwealth cases, the Common Pleas judges, as well as the Orphans' Court judges. There is no doubt that as we have gone through our legislative life and as the affairs of the Commonwealth have become more complex, there have been additional obligations imposed upon the court each year and each session. We are passing bills which are imposing additional obligations upon the courts of Dauphin County, which are the tryers of the law and even in some cases of the facts, in certain appeals from the commissions and boards of this Commonwealth. It is no more than fair that we should relieve the present Court of Common Pleas from its increased burden, from the increased functions that have been imposed upon it, by extending the jurisdiction to try Commonwealth cases to all of the judges of the courts of Dauphin County, thereby relieving the courts of Dauphin County from the necessity of calling in visiting judges to help out the courts of Common Pleas and the Courts of Quarter Sessions in the trial of their local judicial matters.

To those ends I ask the support of the House in this measure.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not desire to prolong the debate but I just want to state, in answer to what has just been said, that the courts of Dauphin County feel that if the Orphans' Court judge will sit in the Court of Common Pleas and in the Court of Quarter Sessions, as he has the right to, it will not be necessary for them to call in any outside judges to assist them in their work. They do not need this assistance in the trial of Commonwealth cases in order to discontinue the calling in of outside judges.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 26, 1937.

Whereas, during recent years there has been not only a marked and substantial change in the method of dealing generally in securities, but also an offering to the public of many novel types of investments and the furnishing of services in connection with securities; and

Whereas, the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Securities Commission under existing law may not be sufficiently comprehensive to deal with such problems and to afford to the investing public adequate protection and safeguards in connection with such transactions:

Now, Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Department of Banking, and the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, be and they are hereby directed to make a survey of such dealings, and activities, and a study of the existing law under which the Pennsylvania Securities Commission presently has jurisdiction over transactions in securities within this Commonwealth, and to report thereon to the next regular session of the House of Representatives, together with such conclusions, and such recommendations and suggestions for legislation, as are deemed necessary and expedient in the premises; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Banking, and the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, by the Chief Clerk of this House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Session 1937. 132d of the General Assembly.

Vol. 21. HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1937. No. 58.

SENATE

THURSDAY, May 13, 1937.

The Senate met at 12 o'clock noon.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. Harvey Huffman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Our Father, the eye that is ever on the sparrow hath kept vigil over us; and Thou hast led us to this hour and place. We would answer Thee in fraternal fellowship and rivalry of faithful service.

With energy and devotion may we enter upon our tasks as ever in Thy presence.

In these remaining days, help us to keep our people near to our hearts. May the royal law prevail, that the strong should bear the infirmities of the weak. Help us to repeal the rule of gold and enact the golden rule.

We would do justly, and love mercy, and walk humbly with our God. Amen.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

Harrisburg, May 10, 1937.

Mr. Dennis J. Mulvihill,
Chief Clerk, Senate of Pennsylvania,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mr. Mulvihill:

Thank you for sending me on May 4, 1937, by direction of the Senate of Pennsylvania, a copy of resolution adopted by the Senate May 3, 1937.

The Department of Public Instruction is in sympathy with the thought expressed in the resolution of Senator C. Hale Sipe, of Butler and Armstrong Counties. We might state the fact that the American histories used in the public schools of the Commonwealth ignore the Colony of New Sweden and the beginnings of white civilization within our borders, is something our Department inherited.

It might interest you to know that the Historical Commission has been working during the past several months in preparation for the 300th Anniversary Celebration of the first civil government, the first public schools, the first chuch, the first court of law, on what is now the soil of Pennsylvania. It has prepared for distribution throughout the Commonwealth several authenticated pamphlets both of a popular and more serious nature telling in detail the history of New Sweden. In addition to this, the Historical Commission for several months has been archaeologically exploring the site of the first settlement within the borders of Pennsylvania and preparing this spot for the Celebration. Since this property has been given to the state and a bill accepting it is now before the Senate, it is hoped by the time of the Celebration in March of 1938 to have made a restoration and memorial of Tinicum.

Copies of the resolution, together with a letter of protest, has been sent by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to the publishing firms of MacMillan Company, New York City, Ginn and Company, New York City, Rand McNally Company, New York City; Iroquois Publishing Company, Syracuse, New York; John C. Winston Company, Philadelphia. It is our belief that they will be willing to cooperate with the Department of Public Instruction in giving proper place in our school histories to the neglected aspect of the early beginnings of our Commonwealth.

Sincerely yours,

LESTER K. ADE.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION REFEREE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 13, 1937.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate W. Lloyd Hibbs, of Cresson, Cambria County, for appointment as Workmen's Compensation Referee, vice Edward W. Walsh, of Barnesboro, deceased, until the third Tuesday of January, 1939, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. SONES,

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor to lie on the table one day, be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into executive session, for the purpose of acting on the foregoing nominations,

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. SONES,

That the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—36

Cavalcante,	Hcyburn,	Mallery,	Rupp,
Dando,	Homsher,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
DiSilvestro,	Jacobs,	McGinnis,	Shapiro,

Haluska,	Lanius,	Rice,	Woodward,
Henney,	Law,	Rodgers,	Huffman,

NAYS—0

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION MEMORALIZING CONGRESS TO ENACT LEGISLATION WHICH WILL ESTABLISH THE CIVILIAN CONSERVATION ON A PERMANENT BASIS

Mr. LAW offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, May 13, 1937.

Whereas, The civilian conservation corps has been in successful operation for a period of four and one-half years, and

Whereas, This organization has been most useful in building character. individuality, and moral in the youth of the nation, and has educated them in discipline, and

Wheras, The work performed by this agency has been a useful contribution to the states and the nation, and will be more fully reflected in the future, and

Whereas, The President of the United States, recognizing the great value of this agency, has recommended to the Congress that it be made a permanent agency of the Federal Government, therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memoralizes the Congress of the United States to enact legislation which will establish the civilian conservation corps on a permanent basis, and as a permanent agency of the United States.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative in Congress of the United States from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by the Chief Clerk of this House.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the reading clerk has very properly called this the Civilian Conservation C-o-r-p-s-e. Congress yesterday limited the life of the Civilian Conservation Corps to two years. It therefore seems to me that memorializing Congress at this date is not in order.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I do not understand that Congress has decided this. It is simply the action of the House and that is the reason the resolution was offered.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am forced to object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

The Resolution is referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1074, as follows:

An Act providing a method of annexation of boroughs to cities of the third class and regulating the proceedings pertaining thereto

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever electors equal to at least ten per centum of the highest vote cast for any office in any borough contiguous to a city of the third class at the last preceding general election shall petition the council of the borough for the annexation of the borough to the contiguous city and for a referendum on the question of such annexation the council shall cause a question to be submitted at the primary general or municipal election occurring at least sixty days thereafter or if no such election shall occur within ninety days after the presentation of such petition then at a special election to be called and held as provided by the election laws of this Commonwealth within such period of ninety days The council shall certify a resolution duly adopted to the county commissioners for submission of such question on the ballot or on voting machines at such election both in such borough and in the city of the third class to which annexation is desired in the manner provided by the election laws of this Commonwealth

Such question shall be in the following form

Do you favor the annexation of the borough of	Yes
to the city of ..... ?	No

If a majority of the persons voting on such question in the borough and a majority of the persons voting on such question in the city shall vote "yes" then the borough shall on the first Monday of January next following be and become a part of the city of the third class

Section 2 Until changed in the manner provided by law the borough if not divided into wards shall constitute a separate new ward of the enlarged city and if the borough at the time of the annexation was divided into wards then each ward of the borough shall constitute a separate new ward of the enlarged city and shall be numbered by the council of the city consecutively beginning with the next highest number after the existing highest numbered ward of the city Until changed in the manner provided by law all election districts in the borough shall remain as constituted at the time of the annexation and shall become election districts of the enlarged city All election and other officers of such election districts in office at the time of the taking effect of the annexation shall continue in office until the expiration of their respective terms unless sooner removed as provided by law

Section 3 All the indebtedness of the borough annexed to a contiguous city of the third class under the provisions of this act as well as the indebtedness of the city to which the same is annexed shall be paid by the city as enlarged by such annexation and all territory included within the limits of the same shall be liable for the payment of the floating and bonded indebtedness and the interest thereon of all the territory included within such enlarged city All taxes thereafter levied therefor shall be uniform throughout the territorial limits of the enlarged city

All of the public property owned by any such borough shall become and remain the public property of the city to which it is annexed

Section 4 When an election is held on the question of annexation under the provisions of this act and the borough proposed to be annexed votes against such annexation the question of such annexation shall not again be voted upon for a period of two years from the date of such election

Section 5 The provisions of this act are in addition to and shall not be construed to repeal or affect any of the provisions of article five of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto"

Section 6 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and coneration of Senate Bill No. 1166, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor and the Board of Trustees of the California State Teachers College to acquire a certain tract of land for the use of said college and maknig an appropriation

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, this bill is here to take care of a very unusual situation down at California State Teachers' College. Right adjoining the beauitiful grounds of the California Teachers' College lies the old Rockwell homestead, which has been in that name for many years. Recently Mr. Rockwell died, and the property which he owned, consisting of seven or eight acres, abuts right on California Teachers' College property. Under this Rockwell tract of land lies a virgin tract of coal. This tract of coal is valuable and has been for many years, it has been said by people wanting to develop it. If this tract of land gets into the hands of any people who want to dig out the coal, because the coal lies near the surface, it will ruin this tract of land and make a very unsightly piece of property, lying right against the property of the Teachers' College. Since Mr. Rockwell died, the state authorities have had an opportunity to purchase this land, and I have been told that they thought this had been taken care of in the budget. The Governor was down and inspected the institution, and I understand he informed the authorities that they should have this land, and I say now that they have an opportunity to purchase it and the price is not too high, as I understand it can be purchased for $15,000, it is something that I feel should be done for the benefit of the State and for the benefit of the schools, and I sincerely hope that we can pass this bill and make it possible for the State to have that very valuable and very beautiful tract of land.

And on the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—31.

Cavalcante,	Heyburn,	Law,	Rupp,
Dando,	Homsher,	Mallery,	Ruth,
Eroe,	Howell,	McCreesh,	Sipe,
Frey,	Jacobs,	McGinnis,	Sones,

solution provide for the appointment of a joint sewer board composed of one representative from each of the cities boroughs and townships joining which shall act generally as the advisory and administrative agency in the construction of such improvement and its subsequent operation and maintenance The members of such board shall serve for terms of six years each from the dates of their respective appointments and until their successors are appointed The joint sewer board shall organize by the election of chairman vice-chairman secretary and treasurer The several cities boroughs and townships may in the ordinances and resolutions creating the joint sewer board authorize the board to appoint an engineer a solicitor and such other assistants as are deemed necessary and agree to the share of the compensation of such persons each city borough and township is to pay The members of the joint sewer board shall receive [no] such compensation [but] for attending meetings of the board as shall be fixed in the budget prepared by the board for submission to and adoption by the several cities boroughs and townships as hereinafter provided and the budget item providing for the compensation to members for attending meetings shall not exceed a total of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) per year and no member shall be paid unless he actually attends and the fee for each such attendance shall be stipulated and the members in addition thereto shall be entitled to actual expenses to be paid by the respective cities boroughs and townships which such members represent

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30.

Cavalcante,	Homsher,	Mallery,	Rupp,
Dando,	Howell,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
Eroe,	Jacobs,	McGinnis,	Sipe,

NAYS—0.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

RECESS

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a report from Committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none

Mr. MUNDY from the Committee on Rules reported as amended the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, May 3, 1937.

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That this regular session of the General Assembly adjourn sine die, Friday, May twenty-eighth, 1937, at 12 o'clock noon.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to make a statement. We have passed a resolution now to adjourn sine die May 28th, and after listening to an announcement by the clerk that this body will stay in session for five days next week, I think it is only just, and I wish to issue a warning. I am as anxious to get home as any man in this Chamber, but I see no reason for a small number of the members to stay here and the balance of them go home. Next week, in the event that we have only a small group here I issue a warning now that I shall ask for a call of the House and have every member brought back unless he leaves here through a leave of absence.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I would say that the Senator should issue the warning on next Monday night, when the absentees are here and not to those who are present now.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I shall do that on Monday night.

The PRESIDENT. I think the suggestion made by the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, is a very good one; however, I think it will not be necessary for him to repeat it on Monday night, as the members will be here.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I ask for a call of the Senate, whatever that means under parliamentary rules, that is what I am asking for.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, has raised the question of no quorum.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, is there a motion before the Senate?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. PRESIDENT, it is not a motion, I merely asked for a call of the Senate, and it appearing that there are now here 26 members, I will withdraw my request.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a report from Committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KAHLE from the Committee on Mines and Mining reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 365, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 756), entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania, and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith," and repealing inconsistent acts.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, at the request of the sponsor, I call up at this time Senate, Bill No. 606, on second reading, postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 606, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for sabbatical leaves of absence for certain employes of school districts

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith is hereby amended by adding thereto after section one thousand two hundred and fifteen a new heading and section to read as follows

Sabbatical Leaves of Absence

Section 1216 (a) Whenever any person employed in the public school system of this Commonwealth shall have completed seven years of satisfactory service as a teacher or in first class school districts as a member of the instructional staff as defined by the local board of education such person shall be entitled to a leave of absence for study or travel or at the discretion of the board of school directors for other purposes for a half or full school term at the option of such person Only one leave of absence shall be allowed for each seven years of service

(b) No leave of absence shall be granted unless such person shall agree to return to his or her employment with the school district for a period of not less than one year after such leave of absence

(c) No such leave of absence shall be considered a termination or breach of the contract of employment and the person on leave of absence shall be returned to the same position he or she occupied prior thereto

(d) A substitute employe shall be assigned to fill the vacancy created by such leave of absence Such substitute employe shall receive no more than one-half of the salary theretofore payable to the person on leave of absence The person on leave of absence shall receive the difference between his regular salary and the salary paid the substitute employe

(e) Applications for leaves of absence shall be given preference according to the years of service of the applicant and the date of application in accordance with regulations adopted by board of school directors pursuant to the provisions of this section

(f) No school district shall limit the number of leaves of absence granted in any school year to less than ten per centum of the number of persons eligible for such leave of absence regularly employed in such district Provided however That schools which have a staff of seven or less teachers shall be permitted at least one leave of absence each year

(g) Every person on leave of absence shall retain the right to make contributions as a member of the Employes' Retirement Association and continue his or her membership therein

(h) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent any person on leave of absence from receiving a grant for further study from any institution of learning

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

SENATE

MONDAY, May 17, 1937.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

Prayer by The Chaplain, Rev. GEORGE WALKER BUCKNER,L.L.D.

Thou art the everlasting God-and there is no God beside Thee! Thou art our Father, ever ready to bless.

In the fleeting days of this session, give us wisdom and courage and strength; minds to consider and to reason with hospitality to truth and right.

May Thy blessing attend our Governor and the circle of his childhood, upon whom the shadow of bereavement has fallen.

We would remember a worthy one from our sister chamber, called to service and responsibility at our nation's capitol.

Upon him who this evening becomes a member of this body, may Thy blessing rest. May his be a happy and fruitful service. In the career of his predecessor may he find inspiration; a challenge in a record without stain, a memory without reproach.

May the transactions of this Assembly conduce to the happiness of our people; and rebound to the glory of our God. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, on April 27th the Senate passed unanimously the following resolution: "Resolved, That the State Emergency Relief Board shall furnish to the Senate, not later than May 15th, 1937, a detailed statement showing the names and addresses of and the compensation paid to all the employees of said Board as of January 1st, 1937, and as of April, 1937."

I would like to inquire whether that list has been furnished to the Secretary of the Senate?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I would like to inform the Senator form Tioga, Mr. Owlett, that the report is ready and will be submitted to-morrow morning.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would like to ask whether copies of that report will be available to the members of the Senate before the bills are acted on?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, presented to-morrow morning.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, may I reiterate my question whether there will be copies of this report, which was due on the 15th, in the hands of every member of the Senate?

The PRESIDENT. That depends upon the action of the Senate. The Chair is advised that the report is rather voluminous. The report will be presented to the Senate to-morrow.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE DEPARTMENT OF BANKING TO INVESTIGATE AND TAKE REMEDIAL ACTION RELATIVE TO PRACTICE OF VARIOUS INSTITUTIONS IN REFERENCE TO DEMANDS MADE UPON BORROWERS.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, before proceeding to the consideration of the Calendar, I ask unanimous consent to present a resolution, and to make a statement in presenting it to the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears no objection, when we reach that order, but the Chair hopes that the Senators will respond when the order of resolutions is called for.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I may state that it has come to my attention that much of the benefit of the abatement of taxes and municipal liens is being lost, at least the psychological effect of it, through certain banking interests and others, who insist upon full payment of all taxes regardless of the fact that there may be privilege of abatement; in many cases people are being worried by the banking institutions unnecessarily, as statements are being made that certain actions are being taken because of the regulations of the banking department. For that reason, and in order that such cases may be thoroughly investigated for the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania.

In the Senate, May 17, 1937.

Whereas, in the course of supervision and examination of banking institutions by the Department of Banking of the Commonewalth of Pennsylvania recommendations are made and instructions given by said Department of Banking to given institutions for the correction of matters of management policy and status of assets, and

Whereas, in the case of correction of the status of assets there is involved loans or mortgage upon which interest is in default, or other conditions which have not been met by the borrowers, and

Whereas, failure or neglect of said banking institutions to require the borrowers to meet the conditions of the contract entered into may be prejudicial to the financial condition of the institution and not for the best interest of the depositors, creditors and shareholders, and

Whereas, for the most part of the recommendation and the instructions of the Department of Banking are made only when the institution itself has failed or neglected to initiate the corrective steps, and

Whereas, it is reported that many banking institutions in business relations with borrowers and other customers endeavor to make it appear that the corrections insisted upon are demanded by the Department of Banking and not necessarily by the institution itself, and

Whereas, such non-acceptance of responsibility by the institutions is not conducive to the best management of the institution nor to the best interests of the public; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), that the Department of Banking of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be and is hereby directed to investigate the practice of institutions under its supervision to place all responsibility upon the Department of Banking for any demands made upon borrowers and other customers to determine whether or not it is advisable that any remedial action be taken by the General Assembly, and be it further

Resolved, that a full report of such investigation, together with such recommendations of the Department of Banking to be made at the next regular session of the General Assembly.

Be it Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Department of Banking by the Chief Clerk of the Senate.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I ask that it be sent to Committee.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Banking.

COMMITTEE ASSIGNMENTS

The PRESIDENT. The President Pro-Tempore announces the appointment of the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Barthold, as a member of the following committees:

Highways, Appropriations, Banking, Education, Finance, Insurance, Judiciary Special, Public Health, and State Government.

HOUSE MESSAGES

An Act to protect the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively creating the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board officers of the State government and courts providing for the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively declaring certain labor practices by employers to be unfair further providing that representatives of a majority of the employes be the exclusive representatives of all the employes authorizing the Board to conduct hearings and elections and certify as to representatives of employes for purposes of collective bargaining empowering the Board to prevent any person from engaging in any unfair labor practice and providing a procedure for such cases including the issuance of a complaint the conducting of a hearing and the making of an order empowering the Board to petition a court of common pleas for the enforcement of its order and providing a procedure for such cases providing for the review of an order of the Board by a court of common pleas on petition of any person aggrieved by such order and establishing a procedure for such cases providing for an appeal from the common pleas court to the Supreme Court providing the Board with investigatory powers including the power to issue subpoenas and the compelling of obedience to them through application to the proper court providing for service of papers and process of the Board prescribing certain penalties.

and has appointed Messrs. Yourishin, Brown and Stackpole a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the Senate (already appointed) to consider the differences existing between the two houses in relation to said bill.

HOUSE INSISTS UPON ITS NON-CONCURRENCE IN AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 228 AND APPOINTS COMMITTEE OF CONFERERNCE

He also informed the Senate that the House insists upon its non-concurrence in the amendments made by the Senate to House Bill No. 228 entitled:

An Act imposing an annual license tax for the privilege of operating, maintaining or controlling within this Commonwealth a store or stores as herein defined; pre-the method and manner of collecting such tax and its disposition; and providing penalties.

and has appointed Messrs. Patterson, Coleman and Weidemann, a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the Senate (if the Senate shall appoint such committee) to consider the differences existing between the two houses in relation to said bill.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I move that a Committee of Conference be appointed to confer with a committee of the House of Representatives, already appointed, to consider the differences existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS POSTPONED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I call up at this time Senate Bill No. 638 concurrence in house amendments postponed, on page two of the calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 638, as follows:

An Act to further amend section four of the act approved the eighteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws 498) entitled "An act defining consolidation of schools providing for the establishment and regulation of consolidated schools and providing for the transportation of pupils to and from consolidated schools" by making certain changes in the provisions for reimbursements by the Commonwealth

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the second and third paragraphs of section four of the act approved the eighteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws 498) entitled "An act defining consolidation of schools providing for the establishment and regulation of consolidated schools and providing for the transportation of pupils to and from consolidated schools" as last amended by section four of the act approved on the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws 634) are hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 4 The Commonwealth in order to encourage the establishment and maintenance of approved consolidated elementary schools or approved consolidated junior high schools or approved joint consolidated schools shall as provided in this act pay annually from the treasury to school districts and unions of school districts maintaining or transporting pupils to and from such schools an amount determined by (a) the true valuation per teacher per district as provided by law and (b) a given per centum of the sum which has been expended during the previous school year by such a school district or union of school districts for transporting pupils of said schools to and from said schools as follows

The amount paid by the Commonwealth to a school district which has a true valuation per teacher of assessable property of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) or less shall be seventy-five (75%) per centum more than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) to one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) sixty (60%) per centum and more than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) fifty (50%) per centum After the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine if the Department of Public Instruction approves the transportation as to methods and means and the contracts provided therefor the Commonwealth will pay annually to the school district furnishing such transportation according to the following schedule of reimbursement to a school district which has a true valuation per teacher of assessable property of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) or less ninety per centum (90%) more than twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) but not more than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) eighty per centum (80%) more than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) but not more than seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) seventy-five per centum (75%) more than seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) but not more than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) 'seventy per centum (70%) more than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) but not more than one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) sixty-five per centum (65%) more than one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) but Provided That in case any of said school district or union of said school districts has purchased or shall hereafter purchase an approved conveyance which is used exclusively for the transportation of school children to and from said schools said sum may include a reasonable charge for depreciation and repairs not to exceed in any year fifteen (15%) per centum of the cost of said approved school conveyance Provided That the State's share of depreciation and repairs shall not exceed two hundred dollars ($200) [one hundred dollars ($100)] per vehicle per year Provided further That the State's share for transportation shall not exceed one dollar ($1.00) per day per pupil for the actual number of days such pupil is transported to and from school Provided further That districts receiving reimbursement on the basis of seventy-five (75%) per centum and sixty (60%) per centum shall not receive more than four thousand dollars ($4,000) in any one school year from the State for transportation Provided further That districts receiving reimbursement on the basis of fifty (50%) per centum shall not receive more than three thousand dollars ($3,000) in any one year from the State for transportation

After the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine the provision heretofore limiting reimbursement for transportation to a maximum of four thousand dollars ($4,000) in districts reimbursed on the basis of seventy-five per centum (75%) and sixty per centum (60%) and three thousand dollars ($3,000) in districts reimbursed on the basis of fifty per centum (50%) shall no longer apply but no district shall receive from the Commonwealth in any one year more than eight thousand dollars ($8,000) as reimbursement for transportation

The State Council of Education may for cause specified by it direct the withholding of such reimbursement in any given case permanently or until the school district has complied with the law or regulations of the State Council of Education

It shall be unlawful for any driver or owner of a vehicle transporting pupils under a contract with a school district or for any member of or board of school directors to demand request or accept any compensation for transporting pupils other than the compensation stipulated in the contract filed with and approved by the Department of Public Instruction

Section 2 Except as hereinbefore otherwise provided the provisions of this act shall become effective on the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven which was returned from the House of Representatives with amendments.

Said amendments having been twice read, and printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I ask that the Senate do not concur; because of a serious printer's error the bill should be sent back to the House.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

Section 7 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, if it is the intention of those who are sponsoring this bill to force the women out of business, the measure is admirably calculated to aid such a purpose. It certainly puts a handicap on the women in very many desirable businesses today, and the large number of exceptions placed in the bill protect certain interests, as is evidenced, and it is not in the interest of the feminine part of the population. We have received no requests from the women of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for this Legislation, but we have been urged by many women to vote against it. It certainly is not in their interest. We are trying to do in this legislation what the men have done by trade Union Regulations. You are going to see the women going home for sometime, and see the men put in their places and paid time and a half, until the time comes when the employer decides, because he cannot have the assistance of these workers when they are necessary, he is going to replace them by men. As I said, if this is the intention of the bill, if it is going to force women out of industry if this bill should pass, but if it is a bargaining measure, I think it falls short of the mark.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not intend to take the time to make a lengthy speech on the merits of this bill. However, I have gone all over the western part of this State and argued the merits of the bill before many groups of women. I find particular employers who are interested in the measure and most of them admitted that we needed such legislation. The only thing that they asked us is that their groups be exempted. They were satisfied to see the bill put up on all other industrial groups, or service groups just so they took their group out of it.

Now, in the Senate committee on Labor and Industry we tried to make this a workable piece of legislation, designed to protect the welfare and health of our female employees in the State. Many states have more drastic legislation designed for the same purpose, and I feel and honestly feel, that this is a great step forward, and perhaps at a later date, we may move a few inches ahead in other pieces of legislation along the same lines, and at this time I believe that it is the duty, we owe to every women in this State that the Senate vote for this piece of legislation.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Section 9 This act shall become effective on the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy.

The PRESIDENT, will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I asked the sponsor of this bill the Senator form Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, if he would be interrogated and he suggested that if I would read the title of the bill, I would know all about it. Well, I read the title, and then on Thursday, it being a very dull day, I read the bill. I take exception to one of the paragraphs, Section 1802, page 43, lines, 10, 11, and 12, and the reason I take exception is this: that Thursday morning, one of the most intelligent committees of the Senate, and one of the ablest Chairman of committees, namely, the Committee on Forests and Waters met and considered a House Bill which raised the price of virgin forest lands, which extends the limit from ten dollars to twenty dollars an acre. We debated the merits of the bill and we went to the trouble of calling up the department of Forests and Waters, and the reply from that department was that they were not particularly interested. After discussing the bill, we decided it was against public policy for the department of Forests and Waters to pay more than $10 per acre, namely, an increase of $10 more than they were in the habit of paying, and we therefore postponed the bill indefinitely. Now, when I read this No. 776, I find that the department in amending the administration code, which is supposed to switch the powers in departments to make them more efficient, inserted these three lines, "under forests and waters, "except the price paid for interior holdings and farms and marginal farms along State forest lands which shall not exceed twenty dollars per acre."

I maintain that this is not playing the game, after the Senate committee turned down that very amount, and that the Senate ought to support its committees. Therefore, I offer a strike out amendment, and I ask consent to strike out the $20 per acre. If the Chairman of the Committee wishes to say anything, I would be glad to hear from him.

Mr. RODGERS. Mr. President, it is quite true what Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward has said. In attempting to get an expression from the Department of Forests and Waters we were unable to do so from Secretary Bogardus because he was out of town, and I move that the bill go over in its order so that we may have an opportunity to confer with Secretary Bogardus, regarding that provision of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair suggests that, in speaking in a parliamentary sense, the amendments would not be in order unless we reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Is there objection to the bill going over in its order?
The Chair hears none. The bill goes over in its order.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 911, as follows:

An Act providing for the payment into the State Treasury without escheat of certain moneys and property subject to escheat under existing law namely unclaimed dividends and profits debts and interest on debts proceeds of policies of insurance stock and customers deposits held by certain limited partnerships and unincorporated associations joint-stock associations companies and corporations doing business under the laws of this Commonwealth declaring the legislative intent with respect to such payments requiring reports of such money and property by and imposing other duties upon such partnerships associations and corporations conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers boards and departments providing for jurisdiction of courts and for proceedings for the recovery of such moneys and property by the Attorney General at the suggestion of the Department of Revenue providing for refunds of such moneys and property and prescribing penalties

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same as follows

Section 1 Legislative Determination and Declaration of Policy It is hereby declared as a matter of legislative determination that the moneys and property hereinafter enumerated in this act are now and have heretofore been subject to escheat both under the common law and under the provisions and requirements of existing acts of Assembly

That it is both necessary and desirable to provide specific appropriate methods for the recovery of such money and property by the Commonwealth and the payment thereof into the State Treasury subject to being refunded to the persons legally entitled thereto without the necessity of instituting and prosecuting the proceedings for a formal decree of escheat thereof by the court having jurisdiction of said moneys and property

Therefore it is hereby declared to be the policy of the Legislature to provide and it is the purpose and intent of this act so to provide for the payment of such moneys and property hereinafter described into the State Treasury without escheat according to the provisions of this act and subject to being refunded to the persons legally entitled to the same

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1017 (House Bill No. 2154), as follows:

An Act authorizing the Commonwealth to negotiate temporary emergency loans to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven evidenced by tax anticipation notes secured by and payable from current revenues levied assessed collectible and accruing during such two fiscal years defining the powers and duties of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in relation thereto providing for the payment of interest on and the repayment of such loans and making an appropriation

Whereas the present Session of the General Assembly has provided revenues of the Commonwealth amounting to three hundred fifty-four million dollars ($354,000,000) for general purposes for the biennial fiscal period beginning June first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven and

Whereas such revenues though levied and assessed will not be available in large part for the current and other expenses of the State government until the later parts of the two fiscal years respectively of the said biennial fiscal period and the collectible revenues will not be sufficient to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the earlier parts of such fiscal years respectively and

Whereas in order that the obligations of the Commonwealth may be met promptly and in order that the State government might not fail through lack of funds it is necessary temporarily to obtain funds to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the fiscal period aforesaid until the revenues that are subsequently accruing to the State Treasury during said fiscal period are available for this purpose

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are hereby authorized and directed during the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven from time to time to borrow on the credit of the current revenues of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania such sum or sums of money not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of one hundred seventy-five million dollars ($175,000,000) as may be necessary to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during such fiscal years

Section 2 (a) Such loans shall be evidenced by notes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania All of said notes shall mature not later than the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine Such notes are hereby declared to be tax anticipation notes Such notes or renewals thereof shall be issued from time to time for such total amounts in such sums and subject to such terms and conditions rates of interest not in excess of four and one half per centum (4½%) per annum and time of payment of interest as the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer shall determine and direct

(b) All notes issued under the authority of this act shall bear the signatures of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer and a facsimile of the great seal of the Commonwealth

(c) The current revenues of the biennial fiscal period beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven are pledged for the payment of principal and interest of such notes which wshall be payable in lawful money of the United States All notes issued under the provisions of this act shall be exempt from taxation for State and local purposes

Section 3 The proceeds derived from the negotiation of loans under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the General Fund of the State Treasury and shall be used for the payment of appropriations made from such fund to defray the current and other expenses of the State government for the biennial fiscal period beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

Section 4 Any loans negotiated under the provisions of this act shall be secured by the current revenues levied and assessed for revenue purposes of every kind or character accruing to the General Fund of the State Treasury during the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven and shall be paid out of such revenues and so much of such revenues as may be necessary for the payment of the principal and interest of such loans are hereby specically appropriated The Department of Revenue shall allocate such revenues to said payments The sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated for the purpose of providing tax anticipation notes and incidental expenses in connection with the issuing of the same

Section 5 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions are held unconstitutional the decision so holding shall not be construed to impair any other provision of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included therein

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1074, as follows:

An Act providing a method of annexation of boroughs to cities of the third class and regulating the proceedings pertaining thereto

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever electors equal to at least ten per centum of the highest vote cast for any office in any borough contiguous to a city of the third class at the last preceding general election shall petition the council of the borough for the annexation of the borough to the contiguous city and for a referendum on the question of such annexation the council shall cause a question to be submitted at the primary general or municipal election occurring at least sixty days thereafter or if no such election shall occur within ninety days after the presentation of such petition then at a special election to be called and held as provided by the election laws of this Commonwealth within such period of ninety days The council shall certify a resolution duly adopted to the county commissioners for submission of such question on the ballot or on voting machines at such election both in such borough and in the city of the third class to which annexation is desired in the manner provided by the election laws of this Commonwealth

Such question shall be in the following form

Do you favor the annexation of the borough of	Yes
to the city of ..... ?	No

If a majority of the persons voting on such question in the borough and a majority of the person voting on such question in the city shall vote "yes" then the borough shall on the first Monday of January next following be and become a part of the city of the third class

Section 2 Until changed in the manner provided by law the borough if not divided into wards shall constitute a separate new ward of the enlarged city and if the borough at the time of the annexation was divided into wards then each ward of the borough shall constitute a separate new ward of the enlarged city and shall be numbered by the council of the city consecutively beginning with the next highest number after the existing highest numbered ward of the city Until changed in the manner provided by law all election districts in the borough shall remain as constituted at the time of the annexation and shall become election districts of the enlarged city All election and other officers of such election districts in office at the time of the taking effect of the annexation shall continue in office until the expiration of their respective terms unless sooner removed as provided by law

Section 3 All the indebtedness of the borough annexed to a contiguous city of the third class under the provisions of this act as well as the indebtedness of the city to which the same is annexed shall be paid by the city as enlarged by such annexation and all territory included within the limits of the same shall be liable for the payment of the floating and bonded indebtedness and the interest thereon of all the territory included within such enlarged city All taxes thereafter levied therefor shall be uniform throughout the territorial limits of the enlarged city

All of the public property owned by any such borough shall become and remain the public property of the city to which it is annexed

Section 4 When an election is held on the question of annexation under the provisions of this act and the borough proposed to be annexed votes against such annexation the question of such annexation shall not again be voted upon for a period of two years from the date of such election

Section 5 The provisions of this act are in addition to and shall not be construed to repeal or affect any of the provisions of article five of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto"

Section 6 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1158, as follows:

An Act providing a method of annexation of townships of the first class and parts thereof to cities and boroughs and regulating the proceedings pertaining thereto

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever electors equal to at least ten per centum of the highest vote cast for any office in any township of the first class contiguous to a city or borough at the last preceding general election or whenever ten per centum of the qualified electors residing within any part of a township of the first class contiguous to a city or borough shall petition the council of such city or borough for the annexation of the township of the first class or part thereof to the contiguous city or borough and for a referendum on the question of such annexation the council shall cause a question to be submitted at the primary election occurring at least sixty days thereafter by certifying a resolution duly adopted to the county commissioners of the county or counties in which any part of the city or borough or the township of the first class is located for submission of such question on the ballot or on voting machines at such election both in such township and in the city or borough to which annexation is desired in the manner provided by the election laws of this Commonwealth

Such question shall be in the following form

Do you favor the annexation of the township of ..... (or the part of the township briefly described) to the ctiy (or borough) of .....?	Yes
	No

If a majority of the persons voting on such question in the entire township and a majority of the persons voting on such question in the city or borough shall vote "yes" then the township of the first class or part thereof as the case may be shall on the first Monday of January next following be and become a part of the city or borough

All petitions shall be accompanied by a plot or plots of the territory to be annexed showing all streets and highways municipal improvements and public buildings and all petitions for the annexation of a part of a township of the first class shall include a description of the part of the township sought to be annexed

Section 2 Until changed in the manner provided by law the township of the first class or part thereof if not divided into wards shall constitute a separate new ward of the enlarged city or of the enlarged borough if such borough is at the time divided into wards and if the township or part of a township at the time of the annexation was divided into wards then each ward of the township or part of a township shall constitute a separate new ward of the enlarged city or borough (if divided into wards) and shall be numbered by the council of the city or borough consecutively beginning with the next highest number after the existing highest numbered ward of the city or borough Until changed in the manner provided by law all election districts in the township of the first class or part thereof shall remain as constituted at the time of the annexation and shall become election districts of the enlarged city or borough All election and other officers of such election districts in office at the time of the taking effect of the annexation shall continue in office until the expiration of their respective terms unless sooner removed as provided by law

Section 3 In the case of the annexation of an entire township of the first class all the indebtedness of the township as well as the indebtedness of the city or borough to which the same is annexed shall be paid by the city or borough as enlarged by such annexation and all territory included within the limits of the same shall be liable for the payment of the floating and bonded indebtedness and the interest thereon of all the territory included within such enlarged city or borough All taxes thereafter levied therefor shall be uniform throughout the territorial limits of the enlarged city or borough

All of the public property owned by any such township shall become and remain the public property of the city or borough to which it is annexed

Section 4 Where any part of any township of the first class is annexed to any city or borough the township officers of that part of the township not annexed and the city or borough council shall make a just and proper adjustment and apportionment of all public property owned by the township at the time of annexation both real and personal including funds as well as of indebtedness if any to and between the township and the city or borough In making such adjustment and apportionment of the property and indebtedness the township and the city or borough shall be entitled respectively to share in a division of the property and indebtedness in the proportion that the assessed valuation of the land remaining in the township bears to the assessed valuation of the land annexed The adjustment and apportionment as made shall be reduced to writing in proper form and duly executed and acknowledged by the proper officials and filed in the office of the clerk of the court of quarter sessions in the county in which said city is located

Section 5 In case the council of the city or borough and the township authorities cannot make such amicable apportionment and adjustment of their property and indebtedness in compliance with this act within six months after any such annexation when the council or any officer of the township may present a petition to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the city or borough is located whereupon the court shall appoint three disinterested commissioners residents and taxpayers of the county not residing in the city or borough nor in the township who after hearing notice of which shall be given to the city or borough and township interested as the court shall direct shall make report to the court making an apportionment and adjustment of all the property as well as indebtedness if any to and between the city or borough and the township said report to state the amount if any that shall be due and payable from the city or borough to the township or from the township to the city or borough as well as the amount of indebtedness if any that shall be assumed by the city or borough or by the township or both of them

Section 6 The commissioners shall give the city or borough and township at least five days notice of the filing of their report and unless exceptions are filed thereto by the city or borough or by the township within thirty days after filing thereof the same shall be confirmed by the court absolutely and any sum awarded by said report to the city or borough or to the township shall be a legal and valid claim in its favor against the city or borough or township charged therewith and the amount of debt if any apportioned to any city or borough or township shall be a legal and valid claim against such city or borough or township charged therewith and any property real or personal given and adjudged to the city or borough or the township shall become and be the property of the city or borough or the township to whichever one the same is given and adjudged and upon such report being confirmed such claim or indebtedness charged against any city or borough or against any township may be collected in the same manner as a judgment is collected against any city or borough or township Such commissioners shall be allowed five dollars per day for each day actually spent by them in the performance of their duties together with their actual necessary expenses All costs and expenses of such proceedings shall be apportioned by the court to and between the city or borough and the township as it shall deem proper

In case exceptions are filed to the report of such commissioners the court shall dispose of the same taking testimony therein if deemed advisable and the decision of the court thereon shall be final and binding on the several cities boroughs and townships unless an appeal is taken within thirty days to the Superior or Supreme Court as in other cases

Section 7 In cases in which such cities boroughs or townships of the first class are situated in two or more counties the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the city or borough is located shall have exclusive jurisdiction over the matter but the same shall be heard by a judge not a resident of either of the judicial districts affected who shall be called to preside specially in the matter and in such case the court shall appoint the commissioners hereinbefore provided for from both or all of such counties

Section 8 When an election is held on the question of annexation under the provisions of this act and the township of the first class proposed to be annexed or in which the territory proposed to be annexed is located votes against such annexation the question of such annexation shall not again be voted upon for a period of two years from the date of such election

Section 9 All proceedings for the annexation of a township of the first class or a part thereof to any city or borough under the provisions of any existing law that are pending and not finally disposed of on the effective date of this act shall in the discretion of the courts before which they are pending or if not pending in any court upon petition of any city borough or township affected to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the township is located be discontinued and vacated and all proceedings for the annexation of any township of the first class or part thereof to any city or borough shall thereafter be had only under the provisions of this act

Section 10 The following acts and parts of acts and their amendments are hereby repealed so far as they relate to the annexation of a township of the first class or a part

The Act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred and three (Pamphlet Laws 332) entitled "An act for the annexation of any city borough township or part of a township to a contiguous city and providing for the indebtedness of the same"

The Act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws 473) entitled "An act authorizing the annexation to cities of the second class of portions of townships not exceeding one hundred acres in area and totally surrounded by said cities and providing for the division of the assets and liabilities of said townships"

Article four of the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 519) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs"

Article five of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto"

All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent with or supplied by this act are hereby repealed

Section 11 The provisions of this act shall be severable and if any of the provisions shall be held to be unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the validity of any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included therein

Section 12 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 807, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one Article fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rankin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rankin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator what is the purpose of this amendment?

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, the purpose of this amendment is to permit the County Treasurer to suceed himself, that is all.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, as I understand it, the words of the Constitution states that the Treasurer and Sheriff cannot succeed themselves.

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, that is the law now.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, that is the law at the present time, so evidently they had in mind that the sheriff should not succeed himself, evidently so that there should not be abuses in that office, and they undoubtedly also had in mind that the treasurer should not succeed himself for the same reason. Mr. President, I would like to further interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rankin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rankin permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I can see no particular reason why we should take away that restriction. The office of the County Treasurer is a very important office, and an office that is bonded to protect any shortage of funds. If there is any reason for any officer not succeeding himself, it seems to me that the office of County Treasurer should be that office, and I see no reason why he should be singled out as an officer to be permitted to carry on. What particular reason does the Senator from Allegheny have to continue the County Treasurer in office?

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, just because my experience in the county is such that a County Treasurer, when he is in office for only four years, it takes him about that length of time to find out anything about the county's business, and then he goes out and a new man takes his place; therefore, I believe that he ought to be able to succeed himself, and further, I have no objection to the Sheriff succeeding himself as far as I am concerned.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, but the Senator from Allegheny did not include the Sheriff in his amendment, he included only the County Treasurer.

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, the Sheriff was not interested in it. It does not permit the County Treasurer to succeed himself, it is an amendment to the Constitution and it only permits the people to say whether he should or should not succeed himself.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I think this is an innovation that is unwarranted, and I ask that the Senate vote down this amendment.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend section 4, page 6, lines 27 and 28, by striking out the words "forty thousand" inserting in lieu thereof the words "twenty-five thousand".

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, the purpose of Senate Bill No. 855, is "in arranging a suitable commemoration of the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the ships Kalmar Nyckel and Fogel Grip on the Delaware, in March one thousand six hundred and thirty-eight, and the establishment of the colony of New Sweden, as well as the coming of the first Dutch, English, German, Welsh, Irish and other settlers by whom were established the earliest settlements and the first courts of law and the first capitol within what is now Pennsylvania". For this purpose we are asked to appropriate $40,000. I might tell the Senate that when this bill was originally reported out, it provided for $25,000, which is the amount I am trying to recommend be put back into the bill, the sponsor having amended the bill to read $40,000 instead of $25,000. I really am very serious about this matter, in view of the fact that both Parties in this Chamber are committed to a policy of reducing the burden of taxpayers. I myself have gone to the Appropriation Committee and asked for an increase of $2,000 for the Allentown Hospital. I have also called the attention of the Appropriations Committee to the overcrowded condition of the Allentown State Hospital, where patients are obliged to sleep on mattresses in the corridors of the building, and we all know of the over-crowded conditions in the Pennhurst School for Minor Mental Defectives. It seems to me that in view of the fact that the State is so poor that we cannot appropriate money to alleviate these crowded, unsanitary and dangerous conditions as those in our hospitals and other institutions, that we certainly cannot here tonight appropriate $40,000 to cerebrate the landing of these two ships on the Delaware River, and I earnestly ask the members of this body to support the motion which I now make.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I desire to say a few words on this bill. Before the bill was introduced, I was informed by a member of the Appropriations Committee that the director of the budget said that there was fifty thousand dollars for the purposes of this bill. I therefore introduced the bill in this amount. It traveled a racky road in committee and emerged with the proposed appropriation cut to twenty-five thousand dollars, and was subsequently amended to forty thousand dollars, as it stands at present.

I strongly urge that the proposed appropriation should not be reduced. The celebrating of the Three Hundredth Anniversary of the first settlements in Pennsylvania will make for state pride. It will make for good citizenship. It will make for patriotic citizenship. All this is a spiritual value.

The absence of the spiritual value of a patriotic citizenship is one of the surest guarantee that I can think of for the ruin of any nation. History is full of examples teaching this truth. It was the absence of this value that caused the mighty Roman Empire, once the proud mistress of the word, to become emasculated by coluptuous repose, to become cankered by inner corruption and to stagger and totter to her doom through sheer aggregation of rottenness.

In 1920 Massachusetts celebrated the Three Hundredth Anniversary of her first settlements, and spent in her celebration about ten times as much as the appropriation that this bill proposes for the celebrating of the Three Hundredth Anniversary of the first settlements in Pennsylvania. In order that you may see whether or not forty thousand dollars is too much for Pennsylvania to spend, let me call your attention to the fact that, stripped of the glamour which New England poets and New England Historians have thrown around the early history of Massachusetts—a glamour which the facts do not justify—that Commonwealth was celebrating very largely the planting on the bleak shores of New England of the principle of religious bigotry and intolerance, a principle that retarded the development of the America that we know and love, the principle of which, if it had taken hold and had given strong color to the institutions of this country, would have caused this land to be unfit for a dog to live in; whereas, we of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will be celebrating the planting in Pennsylvania soil of the precious principle of religious liberty, the principle that made America.

The story is told that when Lord Lindsey, the great English orientalist and scholar, was in Egypt about a century ago, roaming among the pyramids and creeping through the tombs of that land of mystery and shadow, he came upon a mummy which had lain there perhaps from the very dawn of the historic day. Unwrapping it, he found in its closed hand a shriveled root which he took and planted in a warm sunny place and to his utter amazement it grew into a beautiful flower. This story illustrates where the root of the glorious and inspiring history of the first settlements in Pennsylvania, the settlements made by the Colony of New Sweden, has been for a number of generations. This root has been immured in the musty tomb of New England historical prejudice and our own Pennsylvania historical neglect—it has been held in the dry and terrible grasp of the bony fingers of the mummy of New England historical prejudice and our own inexcusable Pennsylvania historical neglect. But this appropriation will help to pry open this tomb. It will release the root from the grasp of the bony fingers of this mummy. It will transplant the root into a fertile soil and afford it a genial atmosphere in which to blossom into usefulness and beauty—yes, to bloom in beauty, with a beauty like the beauty of the flowers of our Pennsylvania forests—with a beauty like the beauty of the lillies of our Pennsylvania valleys.

I think that all this is worth forty thousand dollars.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

BILL OVER IN ORDER REQUEST

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, in view of the lateness of the hour and to forestall inevitable debate I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 860 on third reading entitled:

An Act supplementing the act of July twenty-second, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six (P. L. 70), and authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical Commission of the Department of Public Instruction to provide, plan, prepare, supervise and carry out a suitable program throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and elsewhere for the Celebration of the 150th Anniversary of the Framing, the Signing, the Ratification by Pennsylvania and the Final Adoption and Establishment of the Constitution of the United States during the years 1937-38-39, and making an apprporiation.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

BILLS RECOMMITTED

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 860, on third reading be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the motion

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, if we are going to have a celebration, we might as well have a proper appropriation. The Committee has acted on this bill and there is no sense in fooling with it any more, therefore, I move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations instead of wasting the time of the Senate and let the Committee settle the proposition.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILLS ONLY

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of Senate bills only, on third reading, in their order.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 998, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue an repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended by further regulating the incurring or refunding of indebtedness the issuing of bonds by school districts and the retiring of indebtedness making payroll obligations preferential claims against the district providing for penalties for failure to comply with any part of the act and repealing provisions of state laws inconsistent with this act

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, will the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth, explain what the bill means?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, the bill means simply the saving of the possibility of the school districts being thrown into bankruptcy; this will be postponed by the refunding of its bonded indebtedness, it means further that school districts, and we may have many in the State like that, receiving appropriations from the State for the use of teachers, and ther are using these appropriations to pay off bonded indebtedness and permitting the teachers to go unpaid. It will save the State at least $100,000 by refunding their indebtedness and permitting the boards to carry their indebtedness in the same way as other districts. That is the sum and substance of the bill.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Kilgallen.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Kilgallen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Kilgallen, the purpose of the bill?

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, this bill and the bill preceding and the two bills following it, are companion bills to a series of bills on the Senate Calendar some weeks ago. They have to do with sewage improvements. I believe the members of the Senate will remember that these bills provide a possible way in which rentals from the sewerage improvement projects can be handled. I presented them here in the Senate at the request of Mr. Turner a member of the House, and briefly as I can put it, it is simply a business like method of handling the funds derived from the projects and also street improvement projects.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1124, on third reading, entitled:

An Act making ar appropriation to the Safety Commission.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1136, entitled:

An Act to provide for the regulation of the building erection and maintenance of structures in along across over under projecting into or being in streams lakes and other bodies of water wholly or partly within or forming part of the boundary of this Commonwealth providing for permits fees and charges conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Water and Power Resources Board.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, will the Senator from Philadelphia, explain what the bill intends to do?

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, this is not an appropriation bill. There is not any money required here. This bill forbids the building of some unsitely building along the waters of the State of Pennsylvania without a permit from the proper authorities. That is all the bill does. I would be glad to get a copy from one of the page boys and give it to the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden, for his information.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, as I read this bill, it states that "it shall be unlawful for anyone to erect or maintain * * " and then it goes on and mentions "structures in streams.". Now, the thing that I object to is that it gives authority to tear down certain wharves and other buildings that are now in streams, and if the bill goes through it would prohibit the building of these things in the future, and in its present form it is dangerous. If I am wrong in that, I would like to be corrected.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I want to say if there are encroachments that the State feels should not be there and that they should be removed, it seems that it would take care of the present structures as well as past.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I really think the bill should go over in order because it puts too much authority, as I read it, into the capitalized power resources board, and it might do irreparable damage. I think it is too drastic.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I withdraw my objection, and let the Senator from Indiana have his good wishes.

The PRESIDENT. The objection is withdrawn, and the bill goes over in its order.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1137, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding section eighteen.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Clarion, Dr. Kahle permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, will the Senator kindly explain the bill.

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, this resolution was offered at the request of the Capitol Sportsmen of Pennsylvania. The resolution was introduced at the request of the sportsmen, the Izaak Walton League and other organizations of Pennsylvania—I cannot just recall the names—but it is for the purpose of purchasing land. It asks that a bond issue of $10,000,000.00, be floated for that purpose, to be used to control flood conditions of State owned lands and for reforestration, etc., by the State. This bill if it is passed by the present legislature, would again have to come up before the 1939 legislature, and if again passed, it would then have to be put up to the people of Pennsylvania to be voted upon by them to decide whether or not they want this bond issue floated. That is the purpose of the bill.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Clarion, Dr. Kahle, on one point.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Clarion, Dr. Kahle, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, I will

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, will the Senator from Clarion, Dr. Kahle state what he learned from the sponsors of this joint resolution as to how they proposed to repay this bond issue, whether out of general taxation or from a special source from which they expect to receive it.

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, I cannot answer that.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Clarion, Dr. Kahle.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Clarion, Dr. Kahle, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, if I understand it, the Senator from Clarion, Dr. Kahle, sponsored this joint resolution to expend $10,000,000.00, for the purpose of purchasing land, and yet only $100,000 is included in the 'vitamin' bills that were passed here a week or so ago. Does not the Senator feel that that should be reversed and that we should spend a larger sum for public health and a smaller sum for the purchase of land?

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, conscientiously, I do, but under the conditions the vitamin bill is still in its infancy. It was born two years ago and it has been a grand success in Pennsylvania, but we do not want to burden the State. We want the 'vitamin' bill to go on if we can carry it over and show the people the value of the vitamin bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1251, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Act Number one hundred eight) entitled "An act providing for the appointment and filling of vacancies in the offices of members of the board of revision of taxes in counties of the first class" by making further provisions relative to the appointment of members of the said board.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Stiefel.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I will, gladly.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, this bill was passed just two weeks ago by the Senate and the House and signed by the Governor. I would like to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, what is the idea of this present amendment?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, anytime you can perfect a bill, and it needs perfection, you might as well amend it.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator in what way this bill needs perfection?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, it may be that when the time would come there may be differences of opinion between the persons who were supposed to make the appointments. If the county clerk fails to make an appointment, then after a lapse of a certain number of days the City Controller, or the County Controller—you cannot permit differences of opinion between persons when they interfere with the functions of the board.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator when these differences that he is talking about arise?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in many cases where legislation is not based on anticipation and a difference of opinion may occur, we may as well include a provision which will make the City of Philadelphia immune from such differences of opinion.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator if any effort has been made to use the present bill?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, no.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator if there has been any disagreement by anybody up to the present day?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, no.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, then why change the bill now if there has been no trouble up to date?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, as I said, some time you might anticipate certain differences, and to make the City of Philadelphia immune from such differences of opinion, we might just as well make the bill perfect to avoid any consequences of this kind.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator why this was not done when the bill was first passed. If they did not anticipate these changes then, why are they amending the bill now?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, has had many years of experience—

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I am still dumb.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, when the wheels of legislation are turning, sometimes many things will be omitted.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator what was omitted in the bill when it was first passed on?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that we adjourn this meeting until somebody tells the truth.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I will get it, I have cross-examined witnesses before, I will ask this question and then we will get right down to it. I ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, if the real reason for the change in this bill is not due to the fact that the present city treasurer did not agree with the program that they thought he would agree to.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I do not know that.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, oh, yes, you do; Senator tell us about it; come on, open up and tell us about it.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, my intentions are thoroughly honest and they are conducive to the future welfare of Philadelphia.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator what better government have we had in Philadelphia since the bill was first passed, so far as this bill is concerned.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, let the Senator vote and we have a chance to perfect it. The new board is not functioning yet, and if we have a chance to perfect it, we might as well avail ourselves to this opportunity. I trust the Senator would not want to call a Special Session of this Legislature.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, in other words, if I understand the Senator correctly, this new board has not functioned, and, therefore, has done no wrong.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, but they have to function, and we are going to have it function smoothly, and for that purpose we drew up these amendments.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I ask the Senator if it is not really the truth that some one has found out that this board will not function the way some one wants it to function.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I told the Senator that I am innocent of any wrong intentions.

The PRESIDENT. This is sort of a philosophical interrogation.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, before we vote on this bill, I would like to make just one statement: in view of the fact that the author of this bill is thoroughly innocent, I will ask the jury to acquit him, but I know how innocent and I know how guilty this bill is. This is a bill that was passed some time ago, and if the City Treasurer were going to vote with certain people and along certain lines, everything would be allright, but they found out that he did not agree with them and did not have the same ideas that those people have; therefore, they now come here to change the bill and take away the power from the City Treasurer. It is first-class politics but not strictly on the up and up.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, lawyers have a certain term which is known—the thing speaks for itself—but when it comes to the question of improving the government of the City of Philadelphia,—the thing speaks for itself and we are only wasting time by answering Senator Salus; everybody is cognizant, and if we have a board to improve the Government of Philadelphia, let us avail ourselves of the opportunity of the present time.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, this is the last word, and I will not say any more about the bill. I oft times hear of very sick people dying by improvements and I think that is what is going to happen here.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think it is only fair that the members of this Senate to know that this bill to cure a very serious situation for the reason that the board has not functioned is because the Republican Party prevented it from functioning by going into court and procuring an injunction against the City Treasurer and the Controller, prohibiting them from appointing the board under the original act, and in order to anticipate some objections that have been raised, one of them being, that since three members are appointed by the Controller and three by the Treasurer and one member, the seventh, by both, that there may come a time when neither of them can agree on the seventh man and prevent the board from functioning, and to prevent that and anticipate the argument that will probably be made in the Supreme Court, this bill is introduced, and it will correct that situation and avoid any arguments.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I just cannot let that go. I do not mind being kidded and I do not mind being fooled and I do not find fault with anybody who do not have a lobby. The real story is that there were seven members and the City Treasurer was supposed to be the seventh man, and he was supposed to resign from his political office as City Treasurer in order that he might be the seventh man but evidently they did not understand him very well, as he refused to be a party to the proceedings and they could not afford to take a chance with the City Treasurer, so that they are coming up here to change conditions so that the City Treasurer will be out, and when the vote is taken here tonight, my Democratic friends, are going to put the City Treasurer out, and he will no longer annoy them and they will have the Controller to do the business for them.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, if the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, reads the bill which it is proposed to change by amendment he will find that no where in it is the City Treasurer able to fit in the qualifications set forth for the appointment; they are engineers, real estate men and a business man—the Treasurer cannot fit in under that qualification. The conversation that the Senator is talking about was in the newspapers.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

In case of the necessary temporary absence of the mine foreman he may deputize his work for the time being to his assistant who shall perform all the duties of the mine foreman The right to hire and discharge employes the management of the mine and the direction of the working forces are vested exclusively in the operator and no person or persons association or associations organization or organizations corporation or corporations shall interfere with or attempt to interfere with abridge or attempt to abridge in any manner whatsoever such right Provided That this act shall not invalidate any existing contract

Section 5 That sections six seven and eight of article four of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 6 The mine foreman shall direct and see that every working place is properly secured by props or timbers and shall see that no person is directed or permitted to work in an unsafe place unless it be for the purpose of making it safe He shall also see that [the workmen are provided with sufficient props cap-pieces and timbers of suitable size which shall be delivered at the working faces or as near thereto as they can be conveyed in mine cars when requested by the workmen in accordance with section seven of this article] workmen are provided with sufficient props cap-pieces timbers lagging and wedges all of which shall be reasonably suitable in size and delivered to their working place or places He shall also see that props are cut square at both ends and as near as practicable to the proper length required or designated for the place where they are to be used Moreover he shall see that ties and rails are delivered inside the entrance to the working place or places in which they are to be used

Section 7 Every workman in need of [props] roof supports including wedges cap-pieces [and timbers] and lagging shall notify the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman (or any other person delegated by the mine foreman) of the fact at least one day in advance giving the number size and length of [props cap-pieces and timbers] roof supports the number of wedges and cap-pieces as well as the quantity of lagging required In case of emergency [the timber] any or all of the material herein named may be ordered immediately upon the discovery of danger If for any reason the necessary [timbers] material can not be supplied when required the mine foreman or assistant mine foreman shall instruct the workmen to vacate the place until the [timber] material needed is supplied

The place and manner of leaving the order for [props cap-pieces and timbers] roof supports including wedges cap-pieces and lagging shall be designated and specified in the rules of the mine

Section 8 The mine foreman shall see that on all animal [and mechanical] hauling roads in entries driven after the passage of this amendment holes for shelter shall be cut into the strata not less than [two and one-half] four feet deep and not more than four feet wide and level with the road at least every thirty yards and kept whitewashed and clear of obstruction except in entries from which rooms are driven at regular intervals not exceeding ninety feet Provided That the entrance to each room be kept clear of obstruction for a distance of [three] six feet On all [main] hauling roads in entries driven after the passage of this amendment on which hauling is done by machinery shelter holes shall be cut into the strata not less than [two and one-half] four feet deep and [at least] not more than four feet wide and level with the road and not more than fifteen yards apart and said shelter holes shall be kept whitewashed and clear of obstruction except in entries from which rooms are opened at regular intervals not exceeding forty-five feet Provided That the entrance to such rooms be kept clear of obstruction for a distance of [three] six feet All shelter holes shall be made on the same side of the entry All entries driven after the passage of this act shall have a clear space of two and one-half feet from the side of the car to the rib which shall be made and continued throughout on one side of the entry if in the judgment of the inspector the condition of the roof will permit and shall be kept clear of obstruction

No person except officials or repairmen shall be permitted to travel on slopes gravity or incline planes while the cars thereon are in motion

Section 6 That section nine of article four of said act as amended in part by section one of the act approved the eighteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 613) is hereby consolidated and further amended to read as follows

Section 9 The mine foreman shall direct that the coal is properly mined before it is blasted "Properly mined" shall mean that the coal shall be undercut center-cut overcut or sheared by pick or machine and in any case the [undercutting] cutting shall be as deep as the holes are laid In mines generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp when the coal seam is five six inches or more in thickness "properly mined" shall mean that in all entries less than ten feet wide wherein the coal is undercut or overcut it shall be sheared on one side as deep as the [undercutting] cutting before any holes are charged and fired or the coal shall be blasted in sections by placing the first hole near the center of the coal seam He shall [also] direct that [the miner set] sprags be set as often as necessary but at a distance not exceeding seven feet apart under or upon the breast of undermined [or] center-mined or over-mined coal [for safety] The mine foreman shall direct at what hours blasting shall be done in the mine and a notice of the time shall be posted at a conspicuous place at the mine and a copy of the notice shall be kept on file at the mine office Provided however that in districts in which it has been the common practice to blast coal from the solid said practice or method may be continued notwithstanding any thing to the contrary herein contained

In such portions of a dry and dusty mine where explosive gas is being generated in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall direct and see that the rooms and entries are moistened by water or other efficient means as often as necessary to keep the dust in damp condition and he shall direct and see that the dust is loaded and taken out of the mine as often as necessary

In lieu of the above provisions rock dust may be substituted for or used in conjunction with water under the following conditions The rock dust to be used shall be pulverized so that one hundred per cent will pass through a sieve having twenty meshes per lineal inch and fifty per cent or more will pass through a sieve having two hundred meshes per lineal inch It shall not contain more than five per cent combustible matter nor more than twenty-five per cent of quartz or free silica particles and not be unduly absorbent of moisture Preference shall be given to the lighter colored rock dust

The rock dusting shall be done with such regularity and frequency that all surfaces required to be rock dusted shall be kept in such condition that the incombustible content of the adhering and lodging dust shall not be less than fifty-five per cent

The rock dust shall be distributed on top bottom and sides of all [main haulages and all active entries to the last open cut-through and to a distance of not less than twenty-five in all active rom and pillar workings and in all return airways where hauling or traveling is done

In other places in which no hauling is done the rock dust may be distributed by the air current or other means provided that the amount specified in this act is distributed or such places may be protected by rock dust barriers which shall be subject to the approval of the mine inspector as to design and location When such barriers are installed the amount of rock dust used shall be at least one hundred (100) pounds per square foot of average cross section of entry at the barrier zone The barriers shall be maintained at all times in workable condition and inspected monthly and a report of such inspection showing the condition of the barrier shall be entered on the space provided for such purpose in the book furnished by the Department of Mines for recording the rock dust sample

The superintendent shall see that a sufficient number of samples of dust are gathered each month from the road roof rib and timbers on each split of air and tested to determine if any part of the mine requires redusting and a record shall be kept in a book provided for that purpose showing the location at which samples have been taken and the results of the analyses or tests The book shall be furnished by the Department of Mines in the same manner as is provided for the record books of the mine officials When the working faces of entries airways rooms and other working places are kept damp by watering as provided in this article the outbye portions of such places when required shall be treated with rock dust or water] haulageways travelingways airways developing entries and entries producing coal from rooms or pillars and their parallel entries

The superintendent shall see that a representative sample of dust is gathered at each sampling point from the roof sides and floor of all entries by a competent person once each two months and tested to determine if any part of the mine requires redusting and a record shall be kept in a book provided for that purpose through the Department of Mines in the same manner as is provided for the record books of the mine officials showing the location at which samples have been taken and the results of the analyses or tests The distance between sampling points on haulageways travelingways and airways shall not exceed two thousand feet but in developing entries and in entries producing coal from rooms or pillars and their parallel entries the distance between sampling points shall not exceed five hundred feet

If in the judgment of the mine inspector of the district any mine or portion of a mine is of such a dry and dusty nature as to cause a hazard from coal dust he shall direct that the said mine or portion of a mine be rock dusted or watered as provided in this article However [should] if in the judgment of the inspector of the district the coal in the coal bed is of such a dry and dusty nature that the various processes of releasing the coal from the coal bed and its subsequent loading and transporting throws into suspension in the atmosphere of a working place or places such an amount of coal dust as to indicate danger therefrom he shall direct that all coal in such working place or places be watered to the extent that coal dust will not be thrown into suspension in the atmosphere of the working place or places in such quantity as to indicate danger from coal dust while the coal is being loaded and transported Should the operator superintendent or mine foreman of any mine be satisfied with the decision of the mine inspector in regard to [the] watering or rock dusting [or in regard to rock dust barriers of any mine or portion of a mine] it shall be the duty of the dissatisfied person to appeal from such decision to the Secretary of Mines who shall at once direct two or more of the other inspectors to accompany promptly the inspector of the district to make further examination into the matter in dispute If the said inspectors shall agree with the decision of the inspector of the district their decision shall be final and conclusive unless the dissatisfied person shall within seven days of the receipt of the decision of the committee of inspectors appeal therefrom to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which said maine is situated [whereupon the court or the judges shall appoint a commission of five persons as required by article ten of this act] and thereafter the proceedings had shall be as prescribed by sections one and two of [said] article ten of this act as amended

The mine foreman shall direct and see that as the miners advance in their excavation all dangerous and doubtful pieces of coal slate and rock overhead are taken down or at once carefully secured against falling on the workmen Any workman who neglects to carry out or disobeys the instructions of the mine foreman or his assistant in regard to securing his working place shall be suspended or discharged by the mine foreman and if such negligence or disobedience results in serious injury or loss of life to any person the mine foreman shall give the name of said workman to the inspector for prosecution in accordance with section two article twenty-six of this act

Section 7 That sections ten and thirteen of article four of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 10 The mine foreman shall give prompt attention to the removal of all dangers reported to him by his assistants the fire boss or by any other person working in the mine and in case it is impracticable to remove the danger at once he shall notify every person whose safety is menaced thereby to remain away from the portion where the dangerous conditions exist He or his assistant shall once each week travel and examine all the air courses and roads and all the openings that give access to old workings or falls and make a record of the condition of all places where danger has been found with ink in the book provided for that purpose

In all mines the mine foreman shall employ a sufficient number of assistants to insure a visit to each working place during each shift either by himself or by his assistants [once each day] while the employes are at work and in all mines or portions of mines in which fire bosses are not regularly employed the mine foreman shall if in the judgment of the inspector of the district the roof conditions require extraordinary supervision employ a sufficient number of assistants to insure two visits to each working place during each shift either by himself or his assistants while the employes are at work in such mines or portions of mines and in all mines the interval of time between visits shall be arranged so as to secure the most efficient and effective supervision In addition thereto the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman shall give special care oversight and attention to the men drawing pillars particularly when falls are thereby being made The mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman under instructions from the mine foreman shall direct that the holes for blasting shall be properly placed and shall designate the angle and depth of holes which shall not be deeper than the under-cutting center-cutting over-cutting or shearing and the maximum quantity of explosives required for each hole and the method of charging and tamping Instructions shall be given the men by the mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss or other authorized person as to when where and how timber shall be placed so as to avoid accidents from falls and also in a general way how to mine coal with safety to themselves and others He shall also see that the roof and sides of all passageways over or through which men are transported in a car or cars shall be examined by a competent person or persons within three hours before the appointed time for the day shift to enter the mine

At the end of each shift each assistant mine foreman shall make a report in a book provided for that purpose giving the general condition as to safety of the working places visited by him and shall make a note of any unusual occurrence observed by hi mduring the day The mine foreman shall read carefully the daily report of each assistant mine foreman and shall sign the report with ink [not later than the day following] daily

Section 13 [In every mine generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp where coal dust is being carried in the air currents in quantities indicating danger the] The mine foreman shall see that no person is employed to work in [the] any mine until he has given satisfactory proof that he can do the work allotted to him without endangering the lives of his co-employes unless said person is put to work with an experienced [miner] employe whose duty it shall be to instruct such inexperienced person how [to] safely and properly to perform his work

Section 8 That section fourteen of article four of said act as amended in part by section two of the act approved the eighteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 613) is hereby consolidated and further amended to read as follows

Section 14 In such portions of a mine where explosive gas is being generated in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp and in which approved lamps are used the mine foreman shall employe a sufficient number of competent and legally qualified persons who are able to speak the English language to act as shot-firers whose duty shall be to charge tamp and fire all holes properly placed by the miners and to refuse to charge any holes not properly placed No holes shall be fired by any person other than a shot-firer They shall use none but incombustible material for tamping which the mine foreman shall see is provided for them at convenient places inside the mine Under no condition shall the shot-firer use coal dust or any other combustible material for tamping All such holes shall be fired by an approved electric apparatus and no person other than the shot-firer shall connect the wires of or operate said apparatus Each shot-firer shall keep a record of and report to the mine foreman every hole that he has refused to charge every blown-out shot and every hole that has misfired It shall be the duty of shot-firers and miners who are permitted by this act to fire their own shots to visit and examine the places where shots have been fired before leaving the mine to see that there is no fire or any other danger existing

In all mines in which coal is blasted from the solid all holes shall be fired when all the workmen are out of the mine except shot-firers and persons delegated by the mine foreman to safeguard property

No shot-firer or any other person shall fire a shot in any working place or at any point in any mine if his safety lamp [can detect] indicates explosive gas and he shall not be in possession of any other lamp than an approved safety lamp while performing the duties of a shot-firer [at the roof] This provision is not intended to prohibit blasting in entries going into the solid coal wherein explosive gas is escaping from the coal conditioned it is carried off rapidly rendered harmless and diluted below the point of detection on the flame of an approved safety lamp In gaseous [dusty] mines in which approved [locked] safety lamps are used he shall fire no holes unless the entries and rooms which are dry and dusty are so thoroughly wetted as to prevent the existence of any dry dust for a distance of not less than eighty feet from the hole to be fired unless the dust is rendered inert to explosibility by rock dust [Provided however That in all mines wherein the coal is being blasted from the solid the mine foreman shall direct and see that the provisions of this section are fully complied with]

Section 9 That section seventeen of article four of said act as amended by section two of the act approved the tenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 472) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 17 In any working place that is being driven within supposedly dangerous proximity to [an abandoned mine or portion of an abandoned mine] any portion of an abandoned mine or any portion of an abandoned mine or any idle portion of an active mine suspected of containing explosive gas or that may contain a dangerous accumulation of water the mine foreman shall see that at least two bore holes shall be maintained not less than twenty feet in advance of the face and on each side of such working place bore holes of the same depth shall be drilled diagonally not more than eight feet apart and any place driven to tap water or gas shall not be more than ten feet wide No water or gas from [an abandoned mine or portion of an abandoned mine] any portion of an abandoned mine or from any idle portion of an active mine and no bore hole from the surface shall be tapped until the employes except those engaged at such work are out of the mine and such work shall be done under the immediate instruction and direction of the mine foreman with the use of [locked] approved lamps Provided That it shall be unlawful to work or employ men to work in any portion of a bituminous coal mine in which a body of water is dammed or held back at a higher elevation in the same mine by natural or artificial means unless permission so to do is given in writing by three mine inspectors or the majority thereof appointed by the Secretary of Mines and it shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of any mine having water so dammed or held back to notify the inspector of the district in which the mine is situated But this provision is not intended to abridge the discretionary power of the inspector of the district nor defeat the right of appeal of the owner operator or superintendent as provided for in sections one and two of article ten of this act as amended

Section 10 That sections nineteen twenty-two and twenty-four of article four of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 19 The mine foreman shall [once each week on blank forms provided for that purpose report to the inspector all fatal and serious accidents] report daily to the superintendent all injuries that have occurred in or about the mines giving the age nationality and occupation of the injured persons together with facts as to the families or dependents affected

Section 22 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman to see that [locked] approved safety lamps are used when and where required by this act The transportation of tools [in] into and out of the mine shall be under the direction of the mine foreman or his assistant

Section 24 When assistant mine foreman are employed their duty shall be to assist the mine foreman in complying with the provisions of this act and they [in the absence of the mine foreman they shall perform the duties of the mine foreman and shall be liable to the same penalties as the mine foreman for any violation of this act in parts or portions of the mine under their jurisdiction

Section 11 That section one of article five of said act as amended by section three of the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 716) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 In such portions of a mine wherein explosive gas has been generated within one year before the passage of this act or shall be generated after the passage of this act in sufficient quantities to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall employe a fire boss or fire bosses whose competency to act as such shall be evidenced by a certificate of qualification from the Department of Mines on the recommendation of the examining board as provided for in section six article twenty-four of this act [or a person or persons who in the judgment of the operator is equally competent with the holders of such certificates] It shall be the duty of the fire boss to examine carefully before each shift enters the mine every working place without exception all places adjacent to live workings every roadway and every unfenced road to abandoned workings and falls in the [mines] mine but before proceeding with the examination he shall see that the air current is traveling in its proper course In making the examination he shall use no light other than that enclosed in an approved safety lamp The examination shall begin within three hours prior to the appointed time for each shift to enter the mine The fire boss shall examine for dangers in all portions of the mine under his charge and after each examination he shall leave at the face and side of every place examined the date of the examination as evidence that he has performed his duty He shall also examine the entrance or entrances to all worked-out and abandoned portions adjacent to the roadways and working places under his charge where explosive gas is likely to accumulate and he shall place a danger signal across [the] each entrance to every working place and every other place where explosive gas is discovered or immediate danger is found to exist from any other cause and said signal shall be sufficient warning for persons not to enter The meaning of all danger signals shall be explained to the non-English speaking employes of the mine in their several languages by the mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss through an interpreter

Section 12 That section three of article five of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 3 A second examination by the same or other fire bosses shall be made during working hours of every working place where men are employed and a report of said examination shall be made in the fire boss report book in the same manner as provided for in section two of this article

Section 13 That section four of article six of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Every mine generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp opened after the passage of this act shall have at least four main entries two of which shall lead from the main opening and two from the second opening into the body of the mine Provided That every new gaseous mine where approved lamps are used exclusively projected to open up a large acreage with main entries five thousand feet or more in length shall have at least five main entries two of which shall lead from the main opening and two from the second opening into the body of the mine and the fifth (which may be connected with an opening to the surface or with the intake airway at or near the main intake opening) shall be used exclusively as a traveling way for the employes

Every non-gaseous mine opened after the passage of this act shall have at least two main entries one of which shall lead from the main opening and one from the second opening into the body of the mine Provided That in every new non-gaseous mine projected to open up a large acreage with main entries five thousand feet or more in length the operator shall either haul the employes into and out of the mine at the beginning and end of each shift or provide at least three main entries one of which shall lead from the main opening and one from the second opening into the body of the mine and one (which may be connected with an opening to the surface or with the intake airway at or near the main intake opening) shall be used exclusively as a traveling way for the employes

Should any mine opened as a non-gaseous mine become a gaseous mine and in every gaseous mine opened prior to the passage of this act where [locked] approved safety lamps are used exclusively having less than five main entries that have reached five thousand feet or more in length and are to be extended two thousand feet or more the superintendent shall have a new opening of ample dimensions made from the surface if the inspector of the district and two additional inspectors appointed by the [Chief] Secretary of the Department of Mines deem such additional opening necessary for the proper ventilation of the mine or the safety of the miners The main entries and the travelingway shall be extended from this opening to the face of the workings [The operator may continue to work said mine or mines under the provisions and requirements of this act for a non-gaseous mine until by due diligence the operator can change conditions to meet the provisions and requirements of this paragraph] Provided however should the inspector of the district be of the opinion that any mine is in need of an additional opening from the surface into the interior of the mine for the proper ventilation thereof or the safety of those employed therein regardless of the number or length of main entries from the main openings of the mine he shall so notify the Secretary of Mines who shall appoint forthwith a committee of not less than five inspectors including the inspector of the district to immediately investigate and consider the alleged conditions making an additional opening necessary

If the committee of inspectors or a majority thereof shall agree with the inspector of the district that an additional opening from the surface into the interior of the mine is necessary for the proper ventilation thereof or the safety of those employed therein they shall so notify the superintendent manager or operator and the Secretary of Mines and the decision of the commitee of inspectors shall be final and conclusive unless the dissatisfied person shall appeal therefrom to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the mine is situated within seven days from the receipt of the decision of the committee of inspectors

Whereupon the court of quarter sessions shall speedily determine the question involved in said decision and appeal in accordance with sections one and two of article ten of this act as amended and the decision of said court shall be binding and conclusive

If the court of quarter sessions shall finally sustain the decision of the committee of inspectors and said decision requires the use of the opening as a means of ingress or egress than the additional opening if it be a shaft opening shall be supplied with safe and suitable hoisting equipment or a stairway built in accordance with section six of this article and in any case the stairway or other escapeway shall be ventilated with intake air and said stairway or other escapeway shall be joined to and connected with an intake airway If the additional opening be divided into compartments the partition shall be substantially built of incombustible material

The intake and return entries shall be kept drained and free from refuse and obstructions of all kinds so that persons may safely travel therein throughout their whole length and have a safe means of egress from workings in case of emergency Said entries shall be separated by pillars of coal of sufficient strength and shall not be driven more than two hundred feet beyond the last cut-through except for exploratory purposes

When the main entry of a non-gaseous mine or both main entries of a gaseous mine used for intake or air are also used for mechanical haulage a separate traveling way leading into the body of the mine shall be provided for the use of the employes in going to and from their work or the employes shall be hauled into and out of the mine at the beginning and end of each shift

In all mines where the coal seam is less than three and one-half feet in height such traveling way shall be at least four and one-half feet in height in all mines where the coal seam is four feet in height such traveling way shall be at least five feet in height and the width shall not be less than six feet. All such traveling ways shall be well drained kept free from refuse of all kinds and free from smoke noxious gases and electric wires unless said wires are so placed and protected as not to endanger life and are kept in safe condition

Section 14 That sections three and four of article seven of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 3 [Rock and coal from] Men or materials shall not be raised or lowered in shafts that are being sunk [shall not be raised] except in a bucket or on a cage and said bucket or cage must be connected with the rope by a safety hook clevis or other safe attachment The rope shall be fastened to the side of the drum and not less than three coils of rope shall always remain on the drum If said shafts are one hundred feet or more in depth they shall be provided with guides and guide attachments applied in such manner as to prevent the bucket from swinging while being lowered or hoisted and said guides and guide attachments shall be maintained at a distance of not more than seventy-five feet from the bottom of the shaft

Section 4 It shall be the duty of the person in charge of shaft-sinking for the contractor or company to see that the sides of all shafts are properly secured for safety and that no loose rock or material is allowed to remain o nany timber on top or on any timber in the shaft after each blast Where explosive gas is encountered the person in charge shall see that the shaft is examined before each shift and before the men descend after each blast and also that the place is safe In sinking shafts all blasts must be exploded by electric battery Provisions must also be made for the proper ventilation of shafts while being sunk and in all sinking shafts and in all shafts that are being repaired safety belts shall be provided by the operator or contractor and used by all persons working above the floor of the shaft unless a substantial scaffold is erected that effectively closes the shaft opening immediately below the point where work is being done

Section 15 That sections one and four of article eight of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 The operator or the superintendent shall provide and hereafter maintain in good condition from the top to the bottom of every shaft or slope where persons or material are lowered or hoisted a telephone or metal tube of proper diameter suitably adapted to the free passage of sound through which conversation may be held and understood between persons at the top and the bottom of said shaft or slope and he shall also provide means of signaling from the top to the bottom and from the bottom to the top of such shaft or slope The same provisions shall apply to inside planes whereon coal is lowered and persons have to travel when required by the inspector In all [gaseous] mines telephone connections shall be made from the surface to the main [section] sections of the mine when required by the inspector All signaling apparatus and telephone connections shall be kept in good condition and shall be always available for service

The operator or the superintendent shall provide every cage used for lowering or hoisting persons with hand-rails at sides or overhead or additional suitable devices and covering overhead to protect persons thereon and shall with chain bar or gate at ends and with a sufficient also provide for each said cage efficient safety catches which shall be tested once ever two months and a record of each test shall be sent to the inspector and to the superintendent and also recorded with ink in a book kept at the mine office for that purpose The ropes shall be securely attached to the sides of the drum of every machine that is used for lowering and hoisting persons or material into and out of the mine and the flanges shall have a clearance of not less than four inches when the whole of the rope is wound on the drum so that the speed thereof can be controlled when drum and adequate brakes shall be attached to the men are being lowered or hoisted An efficient indicator that shall show the position of the cages in the shaft shall be attached to the hoisting apparatus and an efficient safety device that will prevent overwinding shall be attached to every engine used for lowering and hoisting persons

All shafts shall be provided with safety gates controlled by the cage at the top and intermediate landings said gates to be approved by the inspector

Section 4 All machinery in and about the mines [from which any accident would be liable to occur] shall be properly [fenced off by suitable guard-railing] guarded so as to protect operatives and others from injury

Section 16 That section three of article nine of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (P. L. 390) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 3 Cut-throughs in entry pillars and in pillars of rooms driven in the "room and pillar" system of mining shall be provided not less than sixteen yards nor more than thirty-five yards apart In mines or portions of mines developed for the purpose of mining by a system other than the "room and pillar" all openings except entries may be driven [one hundred yards] fifty yards without cut-throughs provided the following regulations are enforced

I That sufficient air be circulated to and along the face of each entry cut-through chamber or other opening to sweep away and render harmless all smoke noxious and explosive gases

II In gaseous mines there shall be kept at the face of every working place while the men are at work at least one approved [flame] safety lamp if such place is driven more than one hundred and five feet without a cut-through

III That in every mine where a working place is driven more than one hundred and five feet without a cut-through said place shall be examined by a mine official at least three times a day while the men are or should be at work

IV In [gaseous] mines where it is necessary to drive openings more than one hundred and five feet off any entry or other road not more than [four] two such places shall be advanced at the same time and not more than [six] three places shall be advanced at the same time in any air split without proper connection with the air circuit

V Booster and/or blower fans shall not be used in gaseous mines for the purpose of ventilating workings having no connection with the air circuit unless equipped with government approved flame-proof electric motor Provided however That the location of such fans shall have the approval of the inspector of the district

VI In all gaseous mines where places are driven more than one hundred and five feet without the formation of an air circuit the coal dust in the entries shall be rendered inert to explosibility by the application of shale dust or any other incombustible material and the coal dust in all other openings shall be taken care of as now provided by law

Section 17 That sections four and nine of article nine of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 The quantity of air passing a given point shall be ascertained by an anemometer the measurements to be taken by the mine foreman or an assistant mine foreman once every week at or near the main inlet and outlet airway in the mine and also at the last cut-through in the last room and in the entry beyond the last room turned and when requested by the inspector the mine foreman and/or the superintendent shall once each week direct and see that the methane content of the ventilating current or currents is determined by analyses or by an instrument capable of accuracy to five one-hundredths of one per centum The samples or the determinations shall be taken on the return end of the air circuit or circuits just beyond the last working place unless otherwise directed by the inspector and a correct report of these determinations shall be promptly furnished to the inspector Said measurements determinations or samples shall be taken on days when the men are at work

Section 6 Every ventilating fan at non-gaseous mines shall be kept in operation continuously day and night unless operations are definitely suspended except when written permission is given by the inspector to stop it The said permission or a copy thereof shall be posted by the mine foreman in a conspicuous place at the entrance or entrances to the mine and shall state the particular hours the fan may be stopped The inspector shall have the power to withdraw or modify such permission at any time and in any manner he may deem best In all cases [however] in which permission has been given by the inspector to stop the ventilating fan the fan shall be started two hours before the time to begin work It shall be the duty of the mine foreman to see to it that all persons are out of the mine before the fan is stopped and that no person be permitted to enter the mine until the fan has been in operation for a period of two hours

Every ventilating fan at gaseous mines shall be kept in operation continuously day and night unless operations are definitely suspended Provided That should it at any time become necessary to stop the fan at any time (gaseous or non-gaseous) on account of accident to part of the machinery connected therewith or by reason of any other unavoidable cause it shall then be the duty of the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman in charge after first having provided for the safety of the persons employed in the mine to order said fan stopped for necessary repairs Provided further That should the ventilating fan or fans be stopped at any time for any reason whatsoever at any gaseous mine for a period of time sufficient to cause a serious interruption of the ventilation the source of electric power shall be forthwith disconnected from the mine and the source of electric power shall not be reconnected with the mine until the fan or fans have been started and the mine has been examined by the mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss and reported safe A record of such examination shall be entered in the fire boss record book The Superintendent of the Mine shall be responsible for the execution of this latter provision

Every ventilating fan shall be provided with a recording instrument by which the number of revolutions or the effective ventilating pressure of the fan shall be registered and the registration for each day with the date thereof shall be kept in the office at the mine for future reference for one year

No main or principal ventilating fan shall be placed inside of any mine No auxiliary fan unless driven by electricity or compressed air shall be placed in any mine If the fan be electrically driven the motor shall be placed in the intake airway

Every ventilating furnace in a mine shall be properly attended to and operated by a competent person employed by the mine foreman for that purpose for two hours before the appointed time to begin work and constantly thereafter during working hours

Section 9 No product of petroleum or alcohol or any compound [that in the opinion of the inspector shall contaminate the air to such an extent as to be injurious to the health of the miner] thereof shall be used as motive power in any mine without the written consent of the inspector which written consent shall state the conditions under which it may be used as a motive fuel

Section 18 That the heading and section one of article ten of said act as amended by section three of the act approved the seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (P. L. 175) are hereby further amended to read as follows

APPROVED ELECTRIC LAMPS [LOCKED] APPROVED SAFETY LAMPS AND OPEN LIGHTS DEFINING WHEN THEY CAN BE USED

Section 1 The use of open lights is prohibited in any [entry airway travelingway room or any other working place] portion of a mine or portion of a mine as used in this article being all places of whatever name or number ventilated by the same air current where explosive gas is being generated or carried by the air current in such quantity as can be detected by an approved safety lamp also in pillar workings where a sudden inflow of explosive gas is likely to be encountered and all such places shall be worked exclusively with [locked] approved safety lamps This does not prohibit the use of approved electric lamps Provided That the mine foreman the assistant mine foreman the fire bosses machine runners pumpers and all other persons required by the mine foreman shall in addition thereto use approved [flame] safety lamps for detecting explosive gas The use of open lights is also prohibited in all working places roadways or other portions of the mine through which explosive gas might be carried in the air current in quantities indicating danger Provided however That if the inspector is of the opinion that any mine or any portion of any mine shoull be operated by the use of [locked] approved lamps exclusively he shall have the right to petition the [Chief] Secretary [of the Department] of Mines in writing setting forth such opinion and his reasons therefor Whereupon the said [Chief] secretary shall forthwith instruct two or more other inspectors to accompany the inspector of the district to make a further thorough examination into the matter in dispute and of all workings of said mine whether in active operation or not The said committee of inspectors shall within seven days of their appointment make a report in writing to the [Chief] Secretary of [the Department of] Mines and to the superintendent general manager operator or owner of said mine giving the conclusions arrived at with their reasons therefor and the decision of said committee shall be final anl conclusive unless the superintendent general manager operator or owner shall within seven days of the receipt thereof appeal from such decision to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the mine is located Whereupon the court or a judge of said court in chambers shall [forthwith appoint four practical reputable and competent persons two of whom shall be recommended by the superintendent general manager operator or owner and the other two by the Chief of the Department of Mines and the four persons thus recommended shall name a fifth person who also must be practical reputable and equally competent and the five persons so named none of whom shall be in the employ of the operator operating company or any of its officers or of the State Department of Mines shall constitute a commission to investigate and report on the matter in dispute Provided however In case any or all of the said four persons are not recommended by a writing filed in said court within seven days after the appeal is filed that then the said court shall fill the vacancy or vacancies by the appointment of a practical reputable and competent person or persons and in case the four persons thus chosen shall not agree in writing upon the fifth person of this commission within five days after they have received notice of their appointment then the said court shall appoint the said fifth person on this commission The duty of said commission of five persons shall be under the instruction of the court to forthwith examine said mine or a portion thereof and report under oath within ten days after their appointment the facts as they exist and the conditions pertaining thereto and based upon such conditions and facts the decision of a majority on the matter in dispute and their report and decision shall be final and conclusive unless exceptions thereto shall be filed by the superintendent general manager operator or owner or the Chief of the Department of Mines within seven days of the filing of said commission's report If exceptions are filed the court shall at once hear and upon testimony taken thereon determine them and enter a decree in accordance with such determination Provided That the superintendent general manager operator owner or Chief of the Department of Mines shall thereafter have the right to have the record and proceedings removed to the supreme court for review by appeal or writ of error] speedily determine the question involved in said decision and appeal and the decision of said court shall be binding and conclusive

The court or a judge of said court in chambers may in its discretion or may at at the request of either party appoint three practical reputable competent and disinterested persons whose duty it shall be under instructions of the said court to forthwith examine such mine or other cause of complaint and report under oth the facts as they exist or may have been together with their opinions thereon within thirty days after their appointment The report of said commission shall become absolute unless exceptions thereto shall be filed within ten days after the notice of the filing thereof by the superintendent general manager operator owner or mine inspector as aforesaid If exceptions are filed the court shall at once hear and determine the same and the decision shall be final and conclusive

Section 19 That section two of article ten of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 If said court of quarter sessions sustains the decision of the committee of inspectors [and said court's decree is not appealed from or if on appeal the supreme court finally sustains the decision of the inspectors] then the appellant from said decision of the committee of inspectors shall pay all costs of such proceedings but if the said court of quarter sessions [or the supreme court] shall not sustain the decision of the committee of inspectors then all costs shall be paid by the [Commonwealth] county Provided however That any and all appeals from any decision made by the committee of inspectors or made by the [committee] commission appointed by the court of quarter sessions shall work as a supersedeas to such decision during the pendency of such appeal [either] to the court of quarter sessions [or to the supreme court]

Section 20 That section three of article ten of said act as amended by section four of the act approved the seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (P. L. 175) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 3 The use of open lights is strictly prohibited in the return air current of any portion of a mine that is ventilated by the same continuous air current that ventilates any other portion of said mine in which [locked] approved safety lamps or approved electric lamps are used [The provisions of this section shall not apply to any as provided for in section one article ten of this act mine wherein explosive gas is generated only at the face of active entries]

Section 21 That sections four and nine of article ten of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 If at any time one portion of a mine is worked by the use of [locked] approved safety lamps while another portion is worked by the use of open lights the return air from the gaseous portion shall be conducted directly into a return airway leading to the fan or to the outlet Provided That when a portion of a mine is worked by the use of [locked] approved safety lamps and other portions are worked by the use of open lights it shall be the duty of the mine foreman to provide a suitable danger station with an attendant on duty at all times during working hours day and night whose duty it shall be to see that the employes from the open light portion are not allowed to enter the [locked] approved safety lamp portion unless they are provided with [locked] approved safety lamps by said attendant

Section 9 All approved lamps used for examinating mines or for working therein shall be the property of the operator and shall be in the care of the mine foreman assistant mine foreman fire boss or some other competent person or persons appointed by the mine foreman whose duty it shall be to clean fill trim examine light and deliver them locked and in a safe condition to the men when entering the mine and to receive the lamps from the men when returning from work for which service a charge not exceeding the actual cost of labor and material may be made by the operator At any mine wherein explosive gas was generated within one year be fore the passage of this act in sufficient quantities to be detected by an approved safety lamp a sufficient number of approved safety lamps in use shall be kept in a convenient place and in good condition for use in case of emergency It shall be the duty of every person who knows that his approved lamp is injured or defective to return it immediately and report such fact to the person authorized to receive and care for said lamp who shall report the matter to the mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss as soon as practicable

Section 22 That the title and first two lines of article eleven of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Special Rules for the Installation of Electricity and for the Maintenance of Electrical Equipment

[The following rules shall be observed as far as is reasonably practicable in the mines]

It shall be the duty of the mine foreman and superintendent to see that the following rules for the installation of electricity and the installation and maintenance of electrical equipment are observed after the passage of this amendment

Section 23 That rule three in section one of article eleven of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Grounding

3 All metallic coverings metal armoring of cables [other than trailing cables and where installed underground the] and the frames and bed-plates of generators transformers and motors [other than low voltage portage motors] shall be [efficiently] effectively grounded as shall also the neutral wire of the three wire continuous current systems

Section 24 That rules twenty-one the sub-heading before rule twenty-two and rule twenty-two of section two of article eleven of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

21 Every alternating current feeder circuit leading underground and operating at a potential exceeding the limits of medium voltage shall be provided above ground with an oil break switch on each pole such switch or switches to be equipped with an automatic overload trip and with inverse time overload protection in case of sustained moderate overload Each such circuit shall also be provided with a suitable ammeter

Transformer and Sub-Station Rooms

22 [Transformer rooms shall be of fire-proof construction] Any motor generator converter rotary converter or transformer installed in a mine after the passage of this amendment shall be enclosed in a fire-proof building of masonry or in an effectively grounded approved steel structure Such buildings shall be provided with automatically closing fire-doors but the automatic features of fire-doors may be omitted if a sub-station attendant be employed The openings of all such doors shall be so safeguarded by grillwork that the room may be entered only by authorized persons No electrical equipment containing inflammable material shall be placed within eight feet of a door or opening in any such underground building All such underground substations containing rotary machinery shall have an attendant constantly on duty while rotating machinery is in operation unless adequate control and protection of the equipment is assured by the use of approved automatic devices No transformer circuit breaker controller or other device or combination of devices containing more than twenty gallons of inflammable liquid shall be placed in any underground sub-station The sub-station shall be adequately ventilated No sub-station shall be built in any mine until the location material construction and method of ventilation thereof has received the approval of the Secretary of Mines

Section 25 That rules twenty-nine thirty-eight forty and fifty-one in section three of article eleven of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Power and Light Circuits

29 All high pressure wires used inside of the mines shall be [in the form of insulated lead covered or armored conductors] subject to insulation tests and with carrying capacity according to the rules of the National Board of Fire Underwriters All high voltage circuits entering or installed in mines shall have each or all conductors of the same circuit surrounded with metal armor or metallic conduit so designed and arranged as to permit the conductors to ground to their own sheath in case of damage resulting in a failure of their insulation

High voltage cables in slopes drifts or entries in which hauling conveying or traveling is done shall be constantly protected from falls of roof or other conditions that may damage the cables

Armored cables installed underground after the passage of this amendment that are not installed in fireproof-protecting conduits shall be buried in a trench having a depth of not less than twelve inches below any combustible material and where such cables pass under mine tracks they shall be buried in a trench not less than thirty-six inches below the mine tracks Adequate precautions shall be taken to provide for conducting stray currents from the armor of the cables so as to prevent electrolysis of the armer Cables shall not be bent to a radius less than the minimum specified by the cable manufacturer

No power wires or cables having what is commonly termed as weatherproof insulation or insulation consisting of braided covering which is susceptible to moisture absorption from the outer surface to the conductor shall be installed in any mine

Medium or low pressure conductors may be bare except in gaseous portions of mines no bare conductors shall be used in rooms or beyond the last cut-through in intake entries

Underground Trolley

38 [In underground roads the trolley wires shall in installed] After the passage of this amendment all trolley wires installed in underground roads shall be placed as far to one side of the passage-way as is practicable but not less than six inches outside of line of rail and securely supported upon hangers which shall not be more than twenty-four feet apart and efficiently insulated [and placed at such intervals that the sag between points of support shall not exceed three inches The sag between point of support can exceed three inches if the height of the trolley wire above the rail is five feet or more and does not touch the roof when the trolley passes under]

40 At all landings and partings or other places where men are required to regularly work or pass under trolley or other bare power wires which are placed less than six and one-half feet above top of rail a suitable protection shall be provided This protection [may] shall consist of [channeling the roof] placing boards along the wire [which shall extend below it or the use of other approved devices that afford protection] which boards shall not be more than five inches apart not less than two inches below the lowest point of the wire Provided That the distance between boards on curves may exceed five inches but shall not exceed eight inches This does not prohibit the use of other approved devices or methods furnishing equal or better protection

Power Wires and Cables in Shafts Slopes and Bare Holes

51 All power wires and cables in hoisting shafts or manway compartments shall be highly insulated and substantially fixed in position

Shaft and slope cables whose conductors or covering are not capable of sustaining their own weight shall be supported at intervals not to exceed twenty-five feet by suitable grips which cannot cause abrasion of the covering or insulation but shall so support the cable that no grip shall carry more than the weight of the cable between any two successive grips Where the cables are not completely boxed in and protected from falling material space shall be left between them and the side of the shaft that they may yield and so lessen a blow given by falling material

All power wires and cables installed after the passage of this amendment in wood lined shafts shall be protected over the entire distance traversed in the shafts by a conduit of satisfactory corrosion-resisting material In all shafts or slopes inclined twenty degrees or more to the horizontal all high voltage power cables shall be supported only by their armor which armor shall consist of satisfactory corrosion-resisting steel wires having a size of not less than No 8 B W G and the steel armor shall be attached at the top of the shaft or slope to a suitable cable-support which cable-support together with the armor shall be capable of supporting a load equal to ten times the weight of the cable also the cable shall be placed in that part of the shaft or slope where it will be least subject from falling materials or by moving cages skips counterweight ropes or parts thereof High voltage cables installed in metallic encased bore holes may be supported partially by the conductors of the cable and partially by their armors

Section 26 That rule sixty-eight in section five of article eleven of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Underground Stationary Motors [in Non-Gaseous Mines] and the Housing of Electrical Equipment

68 Motors used for operating fans in [non-gaseous] all mines where they are so situated that they are not under constant supervision of a competent [man] person shall be [totally enclosed (not necessarily explosion-proof)] of an approved type unless placed in a chamber or passageway completely lined with incombustible material and the chamber or passageway itself free from combustible material

All electrical equipment except of an approved type and execpt room hoiss and track mounted pumps which are to remain in the same location for a period of one year or more shall be completely housed in an incombustible structure built of tile brick stone concrete or of steel plates not less than one-eighth inch in thickness securely joined

Section 27 That rule seventy-seven in section six of article eleven of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Trolley System and Open Type Electric Machines

77 Electric haulage by locomotive operated from a trolley wire is not permissible in any gaseous (portions of mines except upon the intake air fresh from the outside] portion of a mine a gaseous portion of a mine as used herein being all the workings and roadways traversed by the locomotive and ventilated by the same continuous air current and in which explosive gas has been generated in sufficient quantity to be detected by an approved safety lamp within a period of two years except when the portion in which the locomotive operates is free of accumulated explosive gas and the highest methane content of the air-urrent in which the locomotive operates is not in excess of five tenths of one per cent and except where the air-current is so guided and directed that the opening or closing of a door will not interrupt or seriously diminish the air flow passing into and through the portion of the mine in which the locomotive operates

Moreover it shall be unlawful in any gaseous portion of a mine as defined in this rule to run or operate a locomotive fed directly or indirectly from a trolley wire by the open entrances to worked out places wherein the pillars have been drawn or places in which the pillars have not been drawn but in which places the roof has collapsed unless such places are constantly and thoroughly ventilated and examined as frequently for explosive gas as active working places are examined

Commencing one year after the passage of this amendment no open type electric locomotive or open type electric mechine of whatsoever name shall be taken into a working place or places in a gaseous portion of a mine as defined in this rule Provided however That the time may be extended with the written consent of the Secretary of Mines Main return airways or passageways shall not be used as haulageways for electric locomotives operated from a trolley wire in gaseous mines

Section 28 That rule ninety-seven in section eight of article eleven of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Special System Equipment and Portable Shot-Firing Apparatus

97 The use of special electrical shot-firing systems

or equipment [not covered by the foregoing] and all portable shot-firing apparatus or devices including the foregoing shall receive before being used in any gaseous mine or portion thereof the approval of the Testing Station of the Federal Bureau of Mines and all such equipment shall carry theron evidence of such approval

Section 29 That rule one hundred one in section nine of article eleven of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Telephones

101 It is [recommended] required that telephonic communication be established between the outside of the mine and the prinlipal points of operation underground as provided in section one of article eight

Section 30 That section two of article thirteen of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 The ambulance shall be constructed upon good substantial easy springs It shall be covered and closed and shall have windows on the sides or ends and shall be provided with spring mattresses or other comfortable bedding to be placed on roller frames together with sufficient covering and protection for the convenient movement of the injured It shall be of sufficient size to convey at least two injured persons and two attendants at one time and shall beprofided with seats for the attendants The stretchers shall be constructed of such material and in such a manner as to insure ease and comfort in the carriage of the injured persons

[At all mines] There shall be provided at all mines stretchers waterproof and wollen blankets bandages splints and other medical supplies to render first aid and relief to employes who may be injured These supplies shall be kept in a suitable room The room shall be located near the entrance to or inside of the mine and shall be sufficiently lareg to accommodate the injured employes while they are receiving temporary medical attention and said room shall be used exclusively for this purpose and it shall be kept heated or constantly supplied with apparatus for the heating thereof

Section 31 That article fourteen of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

ARTICLE XIV

Wash-Houses

Section 1 When the clothing or wearing apparel of the employes in any mine becomes wet by reason of working in wet places therein it shall be the duty of the operator or superintendent of said mine at the request in writing of the inspector who shall make such request upon the petition of any ten employes working in the aforesaid wet places to provide a suitable building convenient to the principal entrance of such mine for the use of the persons employed in wet places therein for the purpose of washing themselves and changing their clothes when entering the mine and returning therefrom The said building shall be maintained in good order and be properly lighted and heated and shall be provided with hot and cold water and facilities for such persons to wash and the cost of providing and maintaining such conveniences facilities shall be defrayed by the owner or operator of said mine Any operator superintendent or inspector who shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or any persons who shall maliciously injure or destroy or cause to be injured or destroyed the said building or any part thereof or any of the appliances or fittings used therein or do any act tending to the injury or destruction thereof shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor

Section 32 That article fifteen of said act is hereby reenacted and amended to read as follows

ARTICLE XV

Inside Stables

Section 1 It shall not be lawful after the passage of this act for the superintendent or mine foreman to provide a horse or a mule stable inside of any mine unless space for said stable is excavated in solid strata of rock slate or coal If excavated in the coal seam the wall shall be built of brick stone or concrete not less than twelve inches in thickness and said wall shall be built from the bottom slate to the roof Wood or other combustible material shall be used in the smallest practicable quantity in the construction of the inside of said stable The air current used for the ventilation of said stable shall not be intermixed with the air current used for ventilating any other portion of the mine but shall be conveyed directly to the return air current No open light shall be permitted in any stable in any mine

No haw or straw shall be taken into any mine unless pressed and made up into compact bales which shall be kept in a storehouse built apart from the stable and in the same manner as the stable Under no circumstances shall [the] hay or straw be stored in the stable or transported underground in open cars

Section 33 That the heading and sections one and two of article sixteen of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Regulations for Powder [and] Detonators and Blasting Fuse

Section 1 No powder or high-explosive shall be stored in any mine and no more of either article shall be taken into any mine at one time by any one person than is required in one shift The quantity shall not exceed five pounds Provided That in a mine where shot-firers are employed the shot-firers shall have the right to take a sufficient quantity to complete their work

Black powder for use in mines shall be put up in five ten fifteen and twenty-five pound metallic cans or canisters or receptacles of equally safe material

No black powder high-explosives or detonators shall be hauled on any electric motor trip in any mine or carried by individuals through passageways in mines in which electricity is used or conducted unless the same are encased in non-conductive boxes or receptacles made of material approved by the Secretary of Mines The use of "Blasting fuse" for igniting or firing explosives in any mine is forbidden unless the use be ignited electrically

Section 2 [In such portions of dry and dusty mines wherein explosive gas is being generated in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp] In dusty mines or parts thereof and in mines in which explosive gas is regularly or intermittently generated to the extent that it can be detected by an approved safety lamp no explosives shall be used except "permissible" explosives as designated by the Testing Station of the Federal Bureau of Mines Each charge shall consist of only one kind of explosive The Department of Mines shall forward to the operators upon application the names of all explosives on the permissible list

No "permissible" explosive shall be sold for use in bituminous mines unless the names of the manufacturer name of explosive method of handling and full instructions for use are conspicuously displayed on or in the package containing the explosive

Section 34 That sections one and two of article seventeen of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 The oiling or greasing of cars inside of any mine is strictly prohibited unless the place where said oil or grease is used is thoroughly cleaned at least once every day to prevent the accumulation of waste oil or grease on the roads or in the drains at that point Not more than one barrel of each kind of lublisating oil or lubricant shall be [permitted] stored in any portion of a mine at one time and it shall be kept in a fireproof building cut out of solid rock or made of masonry or concrete of sufficient thickness to insure safety in case of fire

Section 2 No explosive oil shall be taken into or used in any mine for lighting purposes except when used in approved safety lamps and only sixty-eight degree to seventy degree naphtha of medium distillation range shall be used for this purpose and shall not be taken into or stored in any mine in quantities exceeding five gallons Said oil when stored in a mine shall be kept in a fireproof vault made of masonry or concrete

Section 25 That article twenty of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

ARTICLE XX

Discretionary Powers of Inspectors [Arbitration]

Section 1 The inspector shall exercise sound discretion in the performance of his duties under the provisions of this act and if the operator superintendent mine foreman or other person employed in or about any mine shall be dissatisfied with any decision the inspector has given in the discharge of his duties which decision shall be in writing it shall be the duty of the dissaatisfied person to appeal from said decision to the [Chief] Secretary of [the Department of] Mines who shall at once direct two or more other inspectors to accompany promptly the inspector of the district to make further examination into the matter in dispute If the said inspectors shall agree with the decision of the inspector of the district their decision shall be final and conclusive unless the dissatisfied person shall within seven days of the receipt of the decision of the committee of inspectors appeal therefrom to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which said mine is situated

Section 2 Whereupon the court or [the judges] a judge of said court in chambers shall dispose of the matter in dispute as provided for in sections one and two of article ten of this act as amended [forthwith appoint a commission of five persons as required by article ten of this act and thereafter the proceeding had shall be as prescribed by sections one and two of said article ten]

Section 36 That article twenty-three of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

ARTICLE XXIII

Annual Monthly and Other Reports

Section 1 On or before the twenty-fifth day of January in each year the operator or the superintendent of every mine shall send by registered mail to the inspector of the district a correct report specifying with respect to the year ending the thirty-first day of December preceding the name of the operator and offices of the mine number of tons of coal mined number of tons of coke manufactured number of different employes classified and the total number of days worked during the year The report shall be in such form and give such information regarding the mine as may be from time to time required and prescribed by the [Chief of Department] Secretary of Mines

On or before the third day of each month the superintendent shall send to the inspector of the district a report of the tonnage produced and days worked for the preceding month and also a report in detail of all lost time injuries in or about the mines for the preceding month

Whenever any employe who has been injured is reported able to resume work the superintendent shall report the same immediately to the inspector of the district

The operator or the superintendent who fails to comply with the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor

Section 37 That special rules one five seven eleven and twelve of article twenty-five of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Duties of Miner

Rule One The miner shall examine his working place before beginning work and take down all dangerous slate or otherwise make it safe by properly timbering it before commencing to mine or load coal He shall examine his place to see whether the fire boss has left the date marks indicating his examination thereof and if said marks cannot be found it shall be the duty of the miner to notify the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman of the fact The miner shall at all times be careful to keep his working place in a safe condition during working hours

Should he at any time find his place becoming dangerous from gas or roof or from any unusual condition that may arise he shall at once cease working and inform the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman of said danger but before leaving his place he shall put some plain warning across the entrance thereto to warn others against entering into danger

It shall be the duty of the miner to mine his coal properly before blasting and to set sprags [under the coal] while [undermining to secure it from falling] undercutting center-cutting or over-cutting After each blast he shall exercise care in examining the roof and coal and shall secure them safely before beginning to work

He shall order all [props] roof supports including wedges cap-pieces [and timbers] and lagging necessary at least one day in advance of needing them as provided for in the rules of the mine If he fails to receive said [timbers] material and finds his place unsafe he shall vacate it until the necessary [timbers] material [are] is supplied

Under no conditions shall the miner use coal dust or any other combustible material for tamping in any [gaseous] mine

When places are liable to generate sudden outbursts of explosive gas no miner shall be allowed to charge or fire shots excepts under the supervision and with the consent of the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman or some other competent person designated by the mine foreman for that purpose

The miner shall remain during working hours in the working place assigned to him by the mine foreman or the assistan mine foreman and he shall not leave his working place for another working place without the permission of the mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss and he shall not wander about the hauling roads or enter abandoned or idle workings

Duties of Motorman and Locomotive Engineer

Rule Five The motorman or locomotive engineer shall keep a sharp lookout ahead and sound the whistle or alarm bell frequently when coming near the parting switches or landings and shall not exceed the speed allowed by the mine foreman He shall see that the motors cables and controlling parts are kept clean and in a safe operating condition and that the headlight is burning properly when the locomotive is in motion He shall not allow any person except his [attendant] assistant to ride on the locomotive or on the full cars and it shall be unlawful for any motorman to operate a locomotive in gatehring service without an assistant except when written permission is given by the inspector of the district to do otherwise which written permission may be modified or withdrawn at the pleasure of the inspector Gathering service shall include all shuttling of mine cars before trains are consolidated on a main parting

Duties of Fan [Engineer] Attendant

Rule Seven The [engineer] attendant in charge of the ventilating fan at a mine shall keep it running at such sped as the mine foreman shall direct in writing He shall report promtlv to the mine foreman or assistant mine foreman and edfect in the pressure gauge and in case of accident to the boiler or fan machinery he shall immediately notify the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman If only ordinary repairs of the fan or machinery become necessary he shall wait the instruction of the mine foreman or assistant mine foreman before stopping the fan Should it be impossible to run the fan or become necessary to stop it to prevent its destruction he shall notify at once the superintendent or mine foreman who shall give immediate warning to the persons in the mine

An attendant shall be constantly kept on duty at all principal ventilating fans while men are in the mine unless a visual signal indicating the revolutions of the fan as well as an audible signal announcing a stoppage of the fan si provided conditioned such signals are at points where they will be constantly under the observation and within the hearing of a reliable persons Provided however That the use of fan attendants shall not be discontinued until the inspector shall have approved the reliability of the equipment used in the signal system and its arrangements

Duties of Footman

Rule Eleven At every shaft or slope where persons are lowered into or hoisted from the mine a footman (who shall be over twenty-one years of age) shall be designated by the superintendent or mine foreman He shall be available from the time that persons begin to descend [until all the persons who may be at the bottom of the shaft or slope when quitting work at the end of the day shall be hoisted] and so remain while persons engaged in mining or transporting coal are underground The footman shall personally attend to the signals and see that the provisions of this act in respect to hoisting persons in shafts or slopes are complied with

The footman shall not allow any tools to be placed on the same cage with persons or on either cage when they are being hoisted out of the mine except for the purpose of repairing the shaft or machinery therein The men shall place their tools in cars provided for that purpose which cars shall be hoisted before or after the men have been hoisted He shall see that no driver or other person ascends the shaft with any horse or mule [unless the said horse or mule is secured in a suitable box or safely penned and only the driver in charge of said horse or mule shall accompany it in any case] The footman shall immediately inform the mine foreman of any violation of this rule or of general rule fifteen

Duties of Topman

Rule Twelve At every shaft or slope where persons are lowered into or hoister from the mine a topman or trip rider (who shall be over twenty-one years of age) shall be designated by the superintedent or mine foreman He shall be available from the time that persons begin to descend [until all the persons who may be at the bottom of the shaft or slope when quitting work at the end of the day shall be hoisted] and so remain while persons engaged in mining or transporting coal are underground The topman or trip rider shall personally attend to the signals and see that the provisions of this act in respect to lowering persons in shafts or slopes are complied with

The topman shall not allow any tools to be placed on the same cage with persons or on either cage when persons are being lowered into the mine except for the purpose of repairing the shaft or the machinery therein The men shall place their tools in cars provided for that purpose which cars shall be lowered before or after the men have been lowered

He shall also see that no driver or other person descends the shaft with any horse or mule [unless the said horse or mule is secured in a suitable box or safely penned and only the driver in charge of said horse or mule shall accompany it in any case]

The topman of a slope or incline plane shall be careful to close the safety block or other device as soon as the cars have reached the landing in order to prevent any loose or runaway cars from descending the slope or incline plane and in no case shall said safety block or other device be withdrawn until the cars are coupled to the rope or chain and the proper signal given He shall carefully inspect each day all the machinery in and about the check house and the rope used for lowering the coal and shall promptly report to the superintendent any defect discovered and shall use care in attaching securely the cars to the rope and in lowering them down the incline He shall ring the alarm bell in case of accident and when necessary immediately set free to act the drop logs or safety switch

The topman of a shaft shall see that the springs or keeps for the cage to rest upon are kept in good working order and when taking the full car off he must be careful that no coal or other material is allowed to fall down the shaft

It shall be the duty of the topman to report to the superintendent any violation of general rule fifteen of this article

Section 38 That general rules two thirteen sixteen and seventeen of article twenty-five of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Rule Two No person in a state of intoxication shall [be allowed to] go into or loiter about [the] a mine

Rule Thirteen No powder or high-explosive shall be taken into [the] a mine at one time by any one person in greater quantities than is required for use in one shift and the quantity shall never exceed five pounds except as provided for in article sixteen section one Provided That in electrical equipped mines powder and detonators shall be carried in non-conducting receptacles made of material approved by the Secretary of Mines [All powder shall be carried into the mine in metallic cans or canisters or in receptacles of equally safe material]

Rule Sixteen No approved safety lamp shall be entrusted to any person for use in a mine until said person has given satisfactory evidence to the mine foreman that he understands the proper use thereof and the danger of tampering with the same

Rule Seventeen No one except a person duly authorized by the mine foreman shall have in his possession a key or other instrument for the purpose of unlocking any approved lamp in any mine where [locked] approved lamps are used Other persons than those duly authorized by the mine foreman having keys or other instruments for the opening of approved lamps shall be prosecuted by the superintendent in accordance with section two of article twenty-six of this act

Section 39 That general rule eighteen of article twenty-five of said act as amended by the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 310) is hereby further amended to read as follows
